Intended fixed light on Goh Tapaunoi.

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No. 42 of 1891) of a light-house in course of construction on Goh Tapaunoi, east side of entrance to Puket or Tongka harbour, and from which a light would probably be exhibited about the end of the year 1890:—

Goh Tapaunoi light will be a fixed white light, visible in clear weather from a distance of 15 miles.

Approximate position, lat. 7° 50′ N., long. 98° 25½′ E.

NOTE.—In June 1890 a provisional light, fixed white, and visible in clear weather from a distance of about 6 miles, was shown on Goh Tapaunoi.

PORT WALCOTT APPROACHES.

Local magnetic disturbance of the compass.

THE following Notice to Mariners, issued by the British Admiralty (No. 43 of 1891), is republished:—

In consequence of a report made by Staff Commander Coghlan, H.M. Surveying schooner Meda, in 1885, a close examination has been made by Commander W. U. Moore of H.M. Surveying ship Penguin, in November 1890, of a spot in the neighbourhood of port Walcott, in passing over which the compasses were found to be affected:—

The Penguin has found that a centre of magnetic disturbance lies in 9 fathoms water, with the beacon on Bezout island bearing S. 79° W. $2\frac{1}{10}$ miles. When anchored precisely over this centre, her compass was deflected as much as 55°, but the effect rapidly decreased as the ship was moved away, and at a distance of 3 and 4 cables in different directions was found to be small, while delicate magnetic instruments landed on Bezout island were entirely undisturbed.

As the disturbance is probably due to masses of magnetic mineral in the bed of the sea, and as the Meda's report had reference to a spot a mile and a half farther to seaward on the same direct line from cape Lambert, it is probable that other local magnetic centres may exist on the line of the submarine extension of that basaltic point.

Mariners should be on their guard, but any effect on the compasses, while under way, will be confined to a temporary deflection whilst traversing the very small area of disturbance.

Position of centre of disturbance, latitude 20° 32′ 35″ S., longitude 117° 13′ 5″ E.

Sunken rock south-west of south extreme of Rutland island.

With reference to Notice to Mariners, No. 206, dated the 29th December 1890, issued by this Office, the following information has been received from the British Admiralty (No. 46 of 1891) concerning an examination, made on 10th and 11th December 1890, in the I.M.S. Investigator, of the locality lying in a S.S.W. direction from the south extreme of Rutland island, in search of a sunken rock, with 3 fathoms water on it, reported by the Master of the S.S. Kohinur, as being situated with the south extreme of Rutland island bearing N. by E., distant 2 miles :—

An area about 2 miles in width (east and west), and extending about 4½ miles in a S. by W. direction from the south extreme of Rutland island, was closely sounded, the depths found being in general agreement with those shown on the Admiralty charts. The Investigator remained at anchor for 21 hours of daylight in the reported position of the rock above given, and although the tide ran about 1½ knots an hour for the greater part of the time, no indications of shoal water were seen, and Commander Hoskyn was satisfied that no shoal ground exists in the immediate locality.

A rock (Kohinur rock) was however, found, with a depth of 3 fathoms on it, and nearly always marked by a tide rip, lying with the south extreme of Rutland island bearing N.N.E. ¾ E., distant 9 cables, and the south-west extreme of Rutland island N.N.W. ¾ W.; depths of under 10 fathoms extend about 3 cables north and south of Kohinur rock, and about 2 cables east and west of it; and a patch of 4½ fathoms lies on the north-east edge of this shoal ground.

Position of Kohinur rock, lat. 11° 19′ 50″ N.; long. 92° 35′ 25″ E.

The depths given are at low water ordinary spring tides.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

Explanation.—.....indicate that no rain has fallen. If the return for any day has not been received, the corresponding space is left blank. If any of the returns are wanting, the corresponding spaces in the total rainfall columns are left blank. With reference to the column of rainy days, the definition of a rainy day is when at least 0·1 inch of rain has fallen.

CALCUTTA, the 3rd March 1891.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING SATURDAY, THE 28TH OF FEBRUARY 1891.

On the last day of the previous week the weather conditions in Bengal had become rather disturbed in connection with a rather deep barometric depression which had developed over Northern India, and the centre of which on the morning of the 21st was near Sirsa. On the morning of the 22nd the deep depression had disappeared and a large shallow low-pressure area stretched from Orissa and the neighbouring parts of South-West Bengal through parts of Chutia Nagpur to the Punjab. On the 23rd the low-pressure area had extended over South Bengal, and on the 24th it had travelled again a short distance in a south-easterly direction, and was partly over the Bay, to the east and south-east of the Orissa coast, while on the 25th an increase of pressure had taken place over the Bay and the depression had practically disappeared. With the filling up of the depression weather again became of the normal character and was fine for the last two days of the week.

With the advance of the depression on the first day of the week very disturbed conditions commenced in Bengal, and rain began to fall in all districts, the rainfall in many instances occurring with local storms, while at a number of stations hail also accompanied the rain. Thus on the 22nd fairly general rain was reported in Chutia Nagpur, South Behar, North Bengal, East Bengal, and parts of South-West Bengal, while on the 23rd rainfall was reported from almost all the stations in all the divisions of the province. On the 24th the rainfall reported was still fairly general in Orissa and parts of South-West, North and East Bengal, but in the other districts the falls were few only, while on the 25th the rainfall reported was mainly confined to Orissa From this date rainfall practically ceased, the skies cleared, and weather became fine until the end of the week.

Pressure.—The variations of pressure from day to day have been mainly influenced by the advance and subsequent filling up of the low-pressure area, and from the 24th to the 26th there was a steady increase of pressure, though on the last day of the week a rapid fall, in some cases amounting to a tenth of an inch, set in. For the whole week, however, the mean pressure has been above the normal by amounts usually averaging about three to five-hundredths of an inch, the excess being generally largest at the eastern and northern stations.

Temperature—Generally fell for the first four days of the week during the existence of the disturbed weather and the continuance of the rainfall, but for the last three days there was a steady increase of temperature. The changes were largest on the 23rd, when a fall in the mean temperature averaging about 5° took place, though even with the continuous fall up to the 25th the mean temperature did not become very largely below the normal. For the whole week the mean temperature has been below the normal in all districts, the defects ranging from one to nearly three degrees in South-West Bengal, Chutia Nagpur, North Behar, and East Bengal, while in the other divisions the defects are not more than a few tenths of a degree. For the whole province for the week the mean temperature has been 1·2° below the normal.

The distribution of temperature during the week and its variation from the normal are clearly seen in the table below, where the average maximum, minimum, and mean temperatures at nine typical stations in different districts of the province are compared with the normal values for the same periods. It will be seen that the defective temperatures have been wholly in the day or maximum temperatures, for in almost all instances the night or minimum temperatures have been above the normal:—

Rainfall.—The rainfall for the week has been important, and in all districts, except Chutia Nagpur and South Behar, the falls have averaged from one to about three inches; the heaviest falls occurring in East, South-West and North Bengal, where the amounts average about two to three inches. In all districts except Chutia Nagpur the falls during the week have been so heavy that they have far more than equalled the average rainfall for the whole of February.

The following instances will show how particularly heavy the rainfall was at certain stations:—On the 22nd Bishenpore (Bankoora district) reported 4·76 inches, Narail 3·87 inches, Jhenidah 2·80 inches, Joydebpur (Dacca district) 3·09 inches, and Bogra 4·17 inches. On the 23rd Contai reported 3·02 inches, Kishnaghur 3·58 inches, and Bauphal (Backergunge district) 3·28 inches. The falls then fell off in heaviness, though even on the 24th Kendrapara reported 2·05 inches and Canning Town 2·14 inches.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Saturday, the 28th of February 1891:—

General remarks on the fluctuation of principal staples carried over the East Indian Railway during 3 weeks and 3 days ended 24th January 1891.

INCREASES.

Piece-goods (European).—The improvement recorded under this head was principally in despatches from Howrah to Allahabad, Cawnpore, Agra, Delhi and Ghazipur, and was due to ordinary fluctuations.

Gunny-bags.—The increase was in connection with the improvement in produce traffic, and was chiefly in despatches from Howrah and neighbouring stations to stations in the North-Western Provinces and Punjab.

Fruits, other kinds.—Chiefly in betelnuts from Howrah and Balliaghatta (Sealdah) to up-country stations.

Wheat.—Due chiefly to a local demand in Calcutta.

Rice (husked and unhusked).—The improvement in this staple was due to heavy despatches from the rice-producing stations on the Howrah district between Magra and Raneegunge, and from stations on the Loop line to Howrah, owing to a demand for export to coast ports.

Other rain and spring crops.—Due to a continued demand for cheap food-grains—bajra, juar, &c.—at stations on the Tundla district, and supplies were obtained from the Bombay-Baroda and Central India Railway vid Agra and Delhi, also from the North-Western Railway vid Ghaziabad.

Lac.—This is a continuation of the increase reported last month, and was chiefly in despatches from the Asansol-Gaikara section of the Bengal-Nagpur Railway.

Iron.—The increase was chiefly in despatches of pipes from Howrah for the water-works at Benares and Allahabad; also in telegraph materials for the North-West Provinces.

Opium.—Chiefly in despatches of provision opium from the Government factories at Patna and Ghazipur to Howrah.

Seeds.—The improvement was chiefly in despatches of linseed from Patna, Chunar, Mirzapur, Meja Road and Cawnpore; also from the Tirhoot and the Bengal North-Western Railways, and from the Oudh and Rohilkhand Railway, vid Mogulsarai, to Howrah for export.

Potatoes.—Chiefly in despatches from Boinchee, Memari, Dinapore and vid Mogulsarai to Howrah.

Stone.—Principally in road metals from Pakur to Calcutta for road cess requirements.

DECREASES.

Coal and coke.—There was a heavy falling off both in the upward and downward traffic; the decrease in the former was in despatches for almost all the foreign railways, chiefly the Bombay-Baroda and Central India Railway, which took heavy consignments in December last. The falling off in the downward traffic was in despatches to the Port Trust Railway vid Chitpore, and to Chitpore, Sealdah and other suburban stations, due to smaller demand for brick-burning purposes, and for the mills and factories.

Cotton.—Chiefly in despatches from Cawnpore and stations on the Tundla district to Howrah and Bombay.

Grain and Pulses.—The increase in the weight carried attended with a slight decrease in earnings, was due to long lead despatches of urid dâll last year from Cawnpore to Howrah and other stations on the Howrah district; while this year there were considerable despatches of short lead traffic in grain from Jubbulpur and Sihora Road to Sutna, Katni and Manikpur for local consumption.

Government stores.—The falling off was chiefly in despatches of ammunition from Cossipur to Ferozepur and Futehgarh last year, also in ordnance stores from Agra and Futehgarh to Dum-Dum, Quetta and Ferozepur.

Minerals other than Coal and Coke.—Chiefly in lime from Raneegunge and Ondal to Kidderpur, and in kankar from Rajband and Durgapur to Memari and Burdwan.

Oils.—The decrease was in kerosine-oil from Howrah to Patna and stations in the North-West Provinces, and was due to large stocks being held up country.

Railway material, foreign.—Due to large despatches of permanent-way material having been sent last year from Howrah to Damoodar and Umballa.

Salt.—Chiefly in despatches of imported salt from Howrah, and of country salt vid Agra and Hathras to stations in the Allahabad and Tundla districts, and to the Oudh and Rohilkhand Railway, stocks having been replenished in December last.

Saltpetre.—This was principally in despatches from Farrukhabad and Futehgarh vid Cawnpore, and from Bhewani vid Delhi to Howrah last year.

Spices.—Chiefly in chillies from Mokameh and the Tirhoot State Railway vid Mokameh Ghât to Howrah and other stations.

Sugar (refined and unrefined).—There was an increase in refined sugar attended with a decrease in unrefined sugar, resulting in a net decrease. The former was in despatches from Howrah, Buxar, and Tarighat to Howrah and stations on the G. I. P. Railway. The falling off was in jaggree and molasses from the Oudh and Rohilkhand Railway vid Aligarh to the Bombay Baroda and Central India, due to failure of crops.

Tobacco.—This is a continuation of the falling off reported in previous months.

III. Election.—The annual election was held in August. For the twelve vacancies advertised 113 applications were received, and twelve of the most deserving cases were selected for the foundation on the report of a Sub-Committee appointed for the purpose. On the special recommendation of the Sub-Committee another girl was added to the number. She was not, however, presented for admission, her guardian objecting to the school selected by the Governors for her education and maintenance. At the close of the year there were 109 girls on the foundation, distributed among the various schools as follows:—

Loretto Convent School, Entally	54
Calcutta Free School	25

The amount paid for education and maintenance during the year was Rs. 19,999, or Rs. 2,059 above that of the previous year.

V. Inspection.—The Revd. James Lillie was appointed Visiting Governor for the first-half and the Revd. F. W. Warne for the second-half of the year. Their reports were satisfactory. A favourable report has also been generally given by the school authorities of the conduct, application and attendance of the girls on the foundation. The Revd. James Lillie states in his report that his visits have satisfied him that, in their treatment of the girls, those in charge of the schools are endeavouring faithfully to carry out the purpose of the Institution, and that the girls are in the way of receiving an education suited to the position they are likely in after life to fill.

VI. Meetings.—Three meetings were held during the year, and, among the various resolutions passed, the following may be noted:—

1. That girls on the foundation failing to return to school punctually at the close of the holidays are liable to removal.

PART IV.

Bills of the Bengal Council.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

THE following Bill was introduced and read in the Council of the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 7th March, 1891, and is hereby published for information:—

No. I OF 1891.

A Bill to amend the Court of Wards Act, 1879.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Court of Wards Act, 1879; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Construction and commencement.

1. This Act shall be read with, and taken as part of, the Court of Wards Act, 1879; and it shall come into force from the date on which it may be published in the Calcutta Gazette with the assent of the Governor General.

Addition to section 6.

2. To section six the following clause shall be added:—

"(e) persons as to whom the Local Government has, after due enquiry, declared, on their own application, that they are disqualified, and that it is expedient, in the public interest, that their estates should be managed by the Court of Wards."

Addition to section 7.

3. The following proviso shall be added to section seven:—

"Provided that the Court shall not be empowered to take charge of the person of a proprietor disqualified on his own application under section six, clause (e)."

Addition to section 9.

4. At the end of section nine the following shall be added:—

"And in any case in which the Court has taken charge of the property of a person disqualified from managing his own estates under the provisions of section six, clause (e), it may in its discretion,

(e) at any time withdraw from such charge, or

(f) retain such charge, notwithstanding the death of the owner or the withdrawal of his application, until the amount of all principal debts and liabilities justly due to the several creditors of the owner of the property and the persons holding mortgages, charges or liens thereon, and the interest (if any) due in respect of such debts and liabilities have been discharged:

Provided that the Court shall not retain charge in any case in which the obligation to discharge any debt or liability, whether contracted or incurred by the deceased owner or by the Court on behalf of his estate, is not binding on the representative of such deceased owner."

Addition to section 13.

5. To section thirteen the following proviso shall be added:—

"Provided that nothing contained in this section shall apply to a person disqualified from managing his estates under section six, clause (e)."

Amendment of section 49.

6. In section forty-nine for the words "remains under the charge of the Court with his consent," the words "is under the charge of the Court with his consent under section six, clause (e), or remains with his consent under such charge" shall be substituted.

7. To section sixty the following words shall be added:—

Amendment of section 60.

", nor shall any decree obtained upon a personal obligation of the ward be executed upon or against his property in the possession of the Court."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

UNDER the law, at present in force, Bengal Act IX of 1879, the Court of Wards can assume the management of the estates of adult male proprietors only in certain specified cases, namely, when they have been adjudged by the ordinary tribunals to be incapable of managing their own affairs, by reason of physical or mental infirmity. But cases have occurred in which proprietors not disqualified in this manner have themselves applied for the protection of the Court, and in which it appeared that their requests should not be refused. The Bill provides a procedure under which the Court of Wards may comply with such applications when Government has decided that the proprietors are disqualified, and that the public interest requires that their property should be placed under State management.

THE following Bill was introduced and read in the Council of the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 7th March, 1891, and is hereby published for information:—

No. 2 OF 1891.

A Bill to amend the Public Demands Recovery Act, 1880.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Public Demands Recovery Act, 1880; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

1. This Act shall be read with, and taken as part of, the Public Demands Recovery Act, 1880; and it shall come into force from the date on which it may be published in the Calcutta Gazette with the assent of the Governor General.

Construction and commencement.

2. In section seven for "the Collector of the district" read "Collector".

Amendment of section 7.

3. All certificates made before the passing of this Act under the provisions of section seven of the Public Demands Recovery Act, 1880, by a Collector as defined in section four of that Act, shall be as valid as if made by the Collector of the district.

Validity of certificates made by Collector.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

SECTION 7 of the Public Demands Recovery Act, 1880, provides that certificates under that section shall be made by the Collector of the district. On the assumption that the definition of the word "Collector" in section 4 of that Act included "Collectors of districts," it has hitherto invariably been the practice for Collectors, as distinguished from Collectors of districts, to make these certificates. A recent decision,* however, of the High Court holds that certificates under section 7, in order to be valid, must be made by Collectors of districts. The present Bill is framed with the object of giving the authority of law to the practice which has already been in force for many years, by substituting the word "Collector" for the words "Collector of the district" in section 7. It also seeks to render valid all certificates made before the passing of the Bill by Collectors who are not Collectors of districts.

Declaration between the Government of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and the Government of the French Republic, with reference to the disposal of the Proceeds of Wrecks on their respective Coasts.

The Government of Her Majesty the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, Empress of India, and the Government of the French Republic, desiring to regulate by a new Agreement questions relative to the disposal of the proceeds of wrecks on the coasts of the two States, have agreed to replace the Declaration signed at London on the 16th June, 1879, by the following arrangements:—

ARTICLE I.

When any ship belonging to the subjects of one of the two Contracting States is wrecked or stranded on the coast of the other, the competent local authorities shall, with as little delay as possible, bring the fact to the knowledge of the Consul General, Consul, Vice-Consul or Consular Agent nearest to the spot where the wreck or stranding has taken place.

ARTICLE II.

All operations relative to the salvage of British ships which may be wrecked or stranded on the coasts of France shall be directed by the Consuls General, Consuls, Vice-Consuls or Consular Agents of Great Britain, and reciprocally the French Consuls General, Consuls, Vice-Consuls and Consular Agents shall direct all operations relative to the salvage of ships of their nation wrecked or stranded on the coasts of Great Britain.

ARTICLE III.

If the owners of the ship and cargo, or their duly authorised representatives, shall be present and shall claim it, the Consuls General, Consuls, Vice-Consuls and Consular Agents shall hand over to them the conduct of the salvage operations after requiring the deposit of the ship's papers, as well as the reimbursement of the expenses already defrayed, and a sufficient guarantee for those incurred before the operations were handed over, and which may not have been already settled.

ARTICLE IV.

The intervention of the local authorities shall only take place in the two countries for the purpose of assisting the Consular authority, of maintaining order, of securing the interests of the salvors if they are strangers to the ship-wrecked crews, and of assuring the due execution of the arrangements to be carried out for the entry and departure of the merchandise saved.

In the absence, and until the arrival, of the Consuls General, Consuls, Vice-Consuls or Consular Agents, the local authorities shall, moreover, take all necessary measures for the protection of the persons and for the preservation of the articles which shall have been saved from the wreck.

This intervention shall not give rise to any charges, with the exception of those which the salvage operations and the protection of the articles saved shall have rendered necessary, and those to which national ships would, under similar circumstances, be liable. These charges shall be paid according to the circumstances of the case, either by the Agents of the Consular service, or by their owners or their proxies.

In case absence, sickness or any other cause should prevent the Agents of the Consular service from seeing to the operations and the management of the salvage, the local authorities who may be charged with the operations and management in question shall be bound to remit to the aforesaid Agents the ship's papers and the net proceeds of the ship and the cargo.

ARTICLE V.

The merchandise and articles saved shall not be liable to any customs-duties, unless they are intended for home consumption, in which case they shall pay the same duties as they would have had to pay if they had been imported in national vessels.

ARTICLE VI.

The stipulations of the present Declaration shall be applicable to all the Colonies and foreign possessions of Her Britannic Majesty, excepting to those hereinafter named, that is to say, except to—

India.
The Dominion of Canada.
Newfoundland.
The Cape.
Natal.
New South Wales.
Victoria.
Queensland.
Tasmania.
South Australia.
Western Australia.
New Zealand.

Provided always that the stipulations of the present Declaration shall be made applicable to any of the above-named Colonies or foreign possessions on whose behalf notice to that effect shall have been given by Her Britannic Majesty's Representative to the French Republic within one year from the date of the signature of the present Declaration.

The stipulations of the present Declaration shall be applicable to all the Colonies and foreign possessions of France.

ARTICLE VII.

The present Declaration shall come into operation three months after the date of its signature, and shall remain in force until the expiration of one year from the day on which either Party may give notice of its intention to terminate it.

In witness whereof, the undersigned Plenipotentiaries, His Excellency the Earl of Lytton, Ambassador of Her Majesty the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, Empress of India, and His Excellency M. Eugène Spuller, Minister for Foreign Affairs, have signed the present Declaration, and have affixed thereto their seals.

Done at Paris, this twenty-third day of October, 1889.

EASTERN ARCHIPELAGO.

MADURA STRAIT.

Non-existence of Sunken rock southward of Sapudi island.

WITH reference to Notice to Mariners, No. 185, dated 17th November last, issued by this Office, on the reported existence of a sunken rock lying southward of Sapudi island, northern shore of Madura strait, in approximately lat. 7° 10′ S., long. 114° 19′ E., but which was not placed on the Admiralty Charts, the British Admiralty has given further notice (No. 53 of 1891) that the Commander of H. N. M. surveying vessel Banda has made an examination of the locality southward of Sapudi island, but that no indication of the danger was found. Consequent on this examination, the rock will not be placed on the charts.

CHINA—EAST COAST.

CHUSAN ARCHIPELAGO.

Non-existence of East rock.

THE following information has been received from the British Admiralty (No. 61 of 1891) relative to an unsuccessful search, made in December 1890, for East rock, charted as lying with East islet, bearing W. by N. ½ N., distant $1\frac{9}{10}$ miles.

The recent search for East rock was made under favourable conditions of weather, with a considerable swell running, rendering it impossible that a rock awash (as East rock has been supposed to be), or even with 9 feet water on it, could escape detection. A quadrilateral area, about 3½ miles in extent, over and around the reported position of the rock, was closely sounded, showing a level bottom with general depths of 12 to 13 fathoms, over mud; a careful look out was kept from the deck and aloft; but no indication of shoal water was observed.

Consequent on the foregoing, and from information previously received from Commander Dawson as to the probable non-existence of East rock, also from consideration of the original evidence of its existence, it has been removed from the Admiralty Charts.

Intended fixed light on Goh Tapaunoi.

The British Admiralty has given notice (No. 42 of 1891) of a light-house in course of construction on Goh Tapaunoi, east side of entrance to Puket or Tongka harbour, and from which a light would probably be exhibited about the end of the year 1890 :—

Goh Tapaunoi light will be a fixed white light, visible in clear weather from a distance of 15 miles.

Approximate position, lat. 7° 50′ N., long. 98° 25½′ E.

Note.—In June 1890 a provisional light, fixed white, and visible in clear weather from a distance of about 6 miles, was shown on Goh Tapaunoi.

AUSTRALIA—NORTH-WEST COAST.

PORT WALCOTT APPROACHES.

Local magnetic disturbance of the compass.

THE following Notice to Mariners, issued by the British Admiralty (No. 43 of 1891), is republished :—

In consequence of a report made by Staff Commander Coghlan, H.M. Surveying schooner Meda, in 1885, a close examination has been made by Commander W. U. Moore of H.M. Surveying ship Penguin, in November 1890, of a spot in the neighbourhood of port Walcott, in passing over which the compasses were found to be affected :—

The Penguin has found that a centre of magnetic disturbance lies in 9 fathoms water, with the beacon on Bezout island bearing S. 79° W. $2\frac{1}{10}$ miles. When anchored precisely over this centre, her compass was deflected as much as 55°, but the effect rapidly decreased as the ship was moved away, and at a distance of 3 and 4 cables in different directions was found to be small, while delicate magnetic instruments landed on Bezout island were entirely undisturbed.

As the disturbance is probably due to masses of magnetic mineral in the bed of the sea, and as the Meda's report had reference to a spot a mile and a half farther to seaward on the same direct line from cape Lambert, it is probable that other local magnetic centres may exist on the line of the submarine extension of that basaltic point.

Mariners should be on their guard, but any effect on the compasses, while under way, will be confined to a temporary deflection whilst traversing the very small area of disturbance.

Position of centre of disturbance, latitude 20° 32′ 35″ S., longitude 117° 13′ 5″ E.

NOTICE TO MARINERS—(No. 44).

BAY OF BENGAL.

ANDAMAN ISLANDS—MANNERS STRAIT.

Sunken rock south-west of south extreme of Rutland island.

WITH reference to Notice to Mariners, No. 206, dated the 29th December 1890, issued by this Office, the following information has been received from the British Admiralty (No. 46 of 1891) concerning an examination, made on 10th and 11th December 1890, in the I.M.S. Investigator, of the locality lying in a S.S.W. direction from the south extreme of Rutland island, in search of a sunken rock, with 3 fathoms water on it, reported by the Master of the S.S. Kohinur, as being situated with the south extreme of Rutland island bearing N. by E., distant 2 miles :—

An area about 2 miles in width (east and west), and extending about $4\frac{1}{2}$ miles in a S. by W. direction from the south extreme of Rutland island, was closely sounded, the depths found being in general agreement with those shown on the Admiralty charts. The Investigator remained at anchor for 21 hours of daylight in the reported position of the rock above given, and although the tide ran about $1\frac{1}{2}$ knots an hour for the greater part of the time, no indications of shoal water were seen, and Commander Hoskyn was satisfied that no shoal ground exists in the immediate locality.

A rock (Kohinur rock) was, however, found, with a depth of 3 fathoms on it, and nearly always marked by a tide rip, lying with the south extreme of Rutland island bearing N.N.E. ¾ E., distant 9 cables, and the south-west extreme of Rutland island N.N.W. ¾ W.; depths of under 10 fathoms extend about 3 cables north and south of Kohinur rock, and about 2 cables east and west of it; and a patch of 4½ fathoms lies on the north-east edge of this shoal ground.

Position of Kohinur rock, lat. 11° 19′ 50″ N.; long. 92° 35′ 25″ E.

The depths given are at low water ordinary spring tides.

Explanation.—..... indicate that no rain has fallen. If the return for any day has not been received, the corresponding space is left blank. If any of the returns are wanting, the corresponding spaces in the total rainfall columns are left blank. With reference to the column of rainy days, the definition of a rainy day is when at least 0·1 inch of rain has fallen.

CALCUTTA, the 10th March 1891.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING SATURDAY, THE 7TH OF MARCH 1891.

DURING the previous week a well marked barometric depression had passed over Bengal and had given general rain, but at the close of the week weather had become fine and settled, and a wave of fairly cool winds had set in over the province. For the first three or four days of the present week the meteorological changes were rather unimportant, and weather continued fine, and of the character which usually obtains at the close of the cold season. From the 2nd of the month indeed winds at some stations commenced to become more or less southerly, indicating that the normal cold-weather winds were disappearing, while at the same time temperature generally rose by moderate amounts. Pressure during this period rose almost steadily, the rise on the 4th being rapid, but on the 5th a fall set in at the western stations, while the barometic changes at neighbouring stations over the remainder of the province were in many instances of opposite character, pointing to a rather disturbed state of the atmosphere. The barometric changes over India generally from the 4th to the 5th instant, as indicated in the Simla weather report, indicated that a shallow depression had formed over the central parts of India and the Peninsula, and the general wind directions showed indraught towards this depression. Conditions were therefore decidedly disturbed, and in Bengal, on the 5th, fairly general and in some cases heavy rain was reported in Orissa and in the southern and south-western districts of the province. The same conditions of the existence of a large shallow depression over the central parts of India continued on the 6th and to a certain extent on the 7th, and with these disturbed conditions rain continued to be reported from Bengal, the rainfall spreading on the 6th and 7th to practically all districts of the province. During this period southerly and south-easterly winds and in some cases even easterly winds were reported in Bengal, but on the 7th winds had become north-easterly over the greater part of the province. On the 7th the depression appeared to have drifted partly over Orissa, and there was a fall of pressure over this area of about a twelfth of an inch, while over Behar there was an increase of pressure, in some cases equalling a sixth of an inch. The north-easterly winds in Bengal therefore appear to have been connected with the low pressure in Orissa. With the existence of this barometric depression over Orissa on the 7th, conditions were consequently still distinctly disturbed in Bengal up to the close of the week, and rather heavy rainfall was reported on the 7th from almost all stations in the province.

Pressure.—The mean pressure for the week has continued above the normal, the excess generally ranging from two to four hundredths of an inch.

Temperature.—Owing to the influence of the heavy rainfall in the second-half of the week, temperature has been below the normal in almost all districts. The exceptions are in the cases of Orissa and East Bengal, but here temperatures have been almost normal, for the excess only amounts to a tenth of a degree. Defective temperatures of from about two to three degrees have, on the other hand, been registered in North Behar, South-West Bengal, and Chutia Nagpur, and in South Behar and North Bengal the defects have been between one and two degrees. For the whole province the mean temperature for the week has been in defect of the normal by about one-and-a-half degrees.

The distribution of temperature during the week, and its variation from the normal, are clearly seen in the table below, where the average maximum, minimum, and mean temperatures at nine typical stations in different districts of the province are compared with the normal values for the same period. As was the case during the previous week, the defects have been almost entirely confined to the day or maximum temperatures, while the minimum temperatures have in most cases been in excess of the normal:—

Rainfall.— Heavy general rain has fallen in Chutia Nagpur, South-West Bengal. South Behar, and North Bengal, where the amounts average from one to two inches, and moderate general rain in East Bengal, Orissa, and North Behar, where the amounts average from half to one inch. In several cases the rain has been accompanied by hail; and in almost all cases the rain has fallen during local thunderstorms. At some stations, such as Hazaribagh and Krishnaghur, exceptionally severe storms have been reported during the week, though the amounts of rain received have not been in any cases particularly large, except perhaps at Jhalda in the Manbhoom district, where 7·12 inches was reported on the 6th; but as most other stations in this district had only moderate falls of rain, the report from Jhalda may be open to doubt.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Saturday, the 7th of March 1891 :—

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with the registers of past years (at the Park Street Observatory). The barometer is about 3 feet higher at Alipore, and, other things being equal, reads therefore ·003 lower. The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently about 2·1° lower; and finally, the thermometer which furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor-General's Office during 20 years and upwards is found to read 0·6 higher than the Kew standard thermometer, which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

MEMORANDUM.

Report on the Vital Statistics in twenty-seven of the principal towns of Bengal for the Quarter ending 31st December 1890.

Births.

The total number of births registered in twenty-seven of the principal towns of Bengal during the three months ending with December 1890 amounted to 7,284, and correspond to an annual rate of 27·44 per 1,000 of the aggregate population of those towns, which is 1,061,574. This rate is 1·36 higher than the mean rate of the corresponding quarter of the past five years, 1885—89, and is also higher than the rate of the corresponding period of any of the past five years, except 1885, vide the figures below :—

	Quarter ending 31st December of—

Ratio of births per 1,000 of the population per annum	27·44	24·76	25·84	25·64	26·72	26·08	27·44

The birth-rate of the quarter under notice is also considerably higher than that of any of the preceding quarters of 1890, vide table given below, which indicates an improvement in registration :—

	Quarter ending—
	31st March 1890.	30th June 1890.	30th September 1890.	31st December 1890.
Ratio of births per 1,000 of population per annum	21·44	15 12	20·72	27·44

The proportion of male to female births during the quarter under report was 109 to 100. During the previous three quarters of the year it was as follows :—

1st quarter ...	...	108	males to 100 females.
2nd quarter ...	...	111	males to 100 females.
3rd quarter ...	...	112	males to 100 females.

The births registered in each of the twenty-seven principal towns during the fourth quarter of 1890, 1889, and the average of the five years, 1885—89, correspond to the following rates per 1,000 of the population of those towns :—

It will be seen that the maximum birth-rate during the quarter under report occurred in Naraingunj (65·88 per mille per annum), and the minimum in Chittagong (11·36). Only in Naraingunj, Monghyr, Durbhanga, and Rampore Beauleah did the registered birth-rate exceed the supposed standard of 40 per mille per annum. The nearest approach to this standard was attained in the towns of Serampore (38·92), Utterpara (36·28), Hughli and Chinsurah (36·08), Comillah (33·44), Bhagulpore (33·12), Darjiling (31·32), and Howrah (31 08). The lowest figures were returned from Jessore, Chittagong, Patna City, and Purneah. In all these towns the birth-rate was below 15 per mille—a result which is palpably inaccurate. These towns have throughout the past year returned so low a birth-rate that the figures cannot possibly be accepted as even approximately correct.

Deaths.

The total number of deaths registered in the twenty-seven principal towns of Bengal during the quarter ending with 31st December 1890 numbered 6,905, representing a ratio of 26· per mille of the aggregate population of those towns. This rate is 4·96 lower than the mean rate of the corresponding period of the past five years, 1885—89, and is also lower than the recorded mortality of the corresponding quarter of any of the past five years, but higher than any of the three preceding quarters of 1890, vide the figures below—

The following table shows the death-rates among males and females, and the several classes of the community, during each of the four quarters of the past year. As usual, the total registered results were greater among the male than among the female population, but in the last quarter of 1890 in eight towns more females died than males. Relatively, 111 males died to every 100 females, calculated on the proportion such mortality bears to the total male and female population :—

The highest death-rate during the fourth quarter of 1890 occurred in the town of Naraingunj (67 80 per mille), and the lowest in Santipore (9 56). The total mortality of the twenty-seven principal towns during the last quarter of 1890 is lower than the total rates of the two past periods with which it is compared, but higher than that of the three preceding quarters of the year The figures returned from Santipore, Krishnagar, Patna City, Arrah, Bhagulpore, Purneah and Chupra, are, I am afraid, too low to be correct

The following table shows the registered mortality of the quarter under review from the several registered death-causes compared with that of the three previous quarters of the year · the figures of the corresponding quarter of 1889 and the average of the corresponding quarter of the previous five years, 1885—89, are also given :—

The above statement, compared with the figures of 1889 and the average of five years, 1885—89, shows a diminution in the mortality of the fourth quarter of 1890 under the heads cholera, fever, bowel-complaints, and all other causes. Compared, however, with the first quarter of 1890, there is a noticeable increase in the mortality of the fourth quarter of 1890 under the heads cholera and fever. The mortality from cholera was less than the preceding quarter, while the number of deaths from fever was greater.

Cholera caused 848 deaths (ratio 3·16) against 897 (ratio 3·36) in the preceding quarter. Naraingauj returned the highest rate, viz., 26·40 per mille per annum, Howrah comes next with 6·92, then Serampore 6·76, Utterpara 6·52, Jessore 5·16, Poori 5, Dacca 4·28, Gya 3·88, Bali 3·76, Ranaghat 3·20, Patna City 2·92, Mozufferpore 2·80, Arrah 2 48, Durbhanga 2·48, and Monghyr 2·36. Only three towns were, it appears, entirely exempt from this disease during the period in question, and they were Santipore, Darjiling and Purneah. Eighty-nine persons fell victims to Small-pox, against 48 in the preceding quarter. Chittagong suffered most severely from this disease. The registered death-rate was 5·60 per 1,000 per annum ; Midnapore followed with 1·64, then came Poori 1·28. Twelve towns were absolutely free from Small-pox, and they were Burdwan, Hughli and Chinsurah, Utterpara, Krishnagar, Ranaghat, Santipore, Jessore, Rampore Beauleah, Darjiling, Comilah, Bhagulpore and, Purneah. Fevers caused 3,125 deaths, and Bowel-complaints 907, against 2,558 and 801 respectively, in the preceding quarter. All the towns suffered from these ailments, Rampore Beauleah the most from fevers (30·72 per mille) and Serampore most from bowel-complaints (12·52) ; next to Rampore Beauleah, Gya returned the highest death-rate from fever 25·04, then Serampore 24 28, Darjiling 23·92, and Jessore 21 16. The deaths from Injuries numbered 112, and from All other causes 1,827 against 144 and 1,752, respectively, in the preceding quarter. Naraingauj returned the highest death-rate from the unspecified diseases coming under the head " Other causes," viz., 19·08 per 1,000. Serampore stands next with 18·24, followed by Poori 15 16, Utterpara 12·32, Midnapore 11·44, and Dacca 11·36.

With regard to age, infants as usual perished in the largest number, 181·36 per 1,000 of population; next came old persons (60 years and upwards) with a death-rate of 74·28 per 1,000. The lowest death-rate occurred between the ages of 10 and 15 years

Detailed information regarding the vital statistics of the twenty-seven principal towns of Bengal during the quarter under review will be found in the statement appended.

Signals for the Port of Naraingunge.

The following storm-signals will be used within the limits of the Port of Naraingunge to give notice to the shipping and general public of the early approach of a cyclone or severe cyclonic storm which may or may not be attended with a storm-wave at the mouth of the Megna. They will be hoisted on the flagstaff at the foreshore near the railway station on the receipt of instructions from the Meteorological Office :—

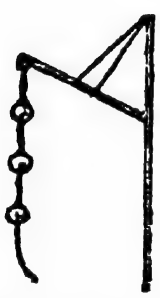
1. Day Warning Signal.

A ball indicates that a cyclone, of which the centre is in the north-east of the Bay, is advancing in a northerly direction towards the coast, and will probably advance over East Bengal.

2. Day Danger Signal.

A drum indicates that a cyclone, which may or may not be accompanied by a storm-wave, is moving towards Naraingunge. (It should be remembered that the force and destructive effect of a storm-wave will depend very considerably upon the state of the tides at the time when the storm centre strikes the coast and on the distance inland of the station affected. The main force of the wave will be spent near the coast.)

3. Night Warning Signal.



Three lights in a vertical line indicate that a cyclone, of which the centre is in the north-east angle of the Bay, is advancing in a northerly direction towards the coast.

Harbour light at Maski.

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No. 68 of 1891) that on 25th December 1890 a harbour light would be exhibited from a light-house erected at the town of Maski (Mashike):—

Maski harbour light is a fixed white light, visible through an arc of 207°, or from the bearing of N. 86° E., through south, to N. 67° W. It is elevated 134 feet above the sea, and should be seen in clear weather from a distance of six miles.

The light-house, 16 feet high, is a square wooden tower, painted white.

Approximate position, lat. 43° 50′ N., long. 141° 30′ E.

TORRES STRAIT—MOUNT ADOLPHUS ISLAND.

Less depths found on Quetta and Mid rocks.

WITH reference to Notice to Mariners No. 139, dated the 22nd September 1890, issued by this office, the British Admiralty has given further notice (No. 71 of 1891) that in consequence of a minute search in the course of a resurvey of the vicinity it has been found that Quetta rock has a depth of 9 feet over it at low water spring tides, instead of 2¼ fathoms as hitherto charted.

Position, lat. 10° 40′ 5″ S., long. 142° 38′ 5″ E.

Also that Mid rock has a depth of 7 feet over it at low water spring tides, instead of 2¼ fathoms, as hitherto stated.

Position, lat. 10° 40′ 25″ S., long, 142° 36′ 5″ E.

PORT REFUGE—Coral patch on south side of entrance.

THE following Notice to Mariners, issued by the British Admiralty (No. 76 of 1891), is republished:—

Information has been received from the Naval Commander in Chief on the China station that H. M. S. Redpole, drawing 13 feet, touched on and passed over some branch coral on the south side of entrance to port Refuge, lying with the west extreme of Direction island bearing N.E. ½ N., and the centre of Workhouse island E. by N., distant $1\frac{1}{10}$ miles.

Approximate position, lat. 12° 6′ S, long. 96° 52′ 25″E.

As it is probable that the coral on which the Redpole touched, is connected with the reef southward of it, the danger line on the Chart and Plan has been extended outwards encircling the position.

NOTE.—The channels between the reefs in port Refuge are overgrown with a dark weed, which gives the bottom the appearance of coral, even when it is sand. The wreck of an iron vessel (very conspicuous) lies on the reef on the western side of the entrance with the centre of Workhouse island bearing E. $\frac{1}{8}$ S., distant $1\frac{7}{10}$ miles. It is stated also, on local authority, that coral heads with only a few feet water on them exist on the reefs both northward and southward of the port.

N. M. surveying vessel Banda has made an examination of the locality southward of Sapudi island, but that no indication of the danger was found. Consequent on this examination, the rock will not be placed on the charts.

Non-existence of East rock.

THE following information has been received from the British Admiralty (No. 61 of 1891) relative to an unsuccessful search, made in December 1890, for East rock, charted as lying with East islet, bearing W. by N. ½ N., distant 1 7/10 miles.

The recent search for East rock was made under favourable conditions of weather, with a considerable swell running, rendering it impossible that a rock awash (as East rock has been supposed to be), or even with 9 feet water on it, could escape detection. A quadrilateral area, about 3½ miles in extent, over and around the reported position of the rock, was closely sounded, showing a level bottom with general depths of 12 to 13 fathoms, over mud; a careful look out was kept from the deck and aloft; but no indication of shoal water was observed.

Consequent on the foregoing, and from information previously received from Commander Dawson as to the probable non-existence of East rock, also from consideration of the original evidence of its existence, it has been removed from the Admiralty Charts.

Intended fixed light on Goh Tapaunoi.

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No. 42 of 1891) of a light-house in course of construction on Goh Tapaunoi, east side of entrance to Puket or Tongka harbour, and from which a light would probably be exhibited about the end of the year 1890 :—

Goh Tapaunoi light will be a fixed white light, visible in clear weather from a distance of 15 miles.

Approximate position, lat. 7° 50′ N., long. 98° 25½′ E.

PORT WALCOTT APPROACHES.

Local magnetic disturbance of the compass.

THE following Notice to Mariners, issued by the British Admiralty (No. 43 of 1891), is republished :—

In consequence of a report made by Staff Commander Coghlan, H.M. Surveying schooner Meda, in 1885, a close examination has been made by Commander W. U. Moore of H.M. Surveying ship Penguin, in November 1890, of a spot in the neighbourhood of port Walcott, in passing over which the compasses were found to be affected :—

The Penguin has found that a centre of magnetic disturbance lies in 9 fathoms water, with the beacon on Bezout island bearing S. 79° W. 2$\frac{1}{10}$ miles. When anchored precisely over this centre, her compass was deflected as much as 55°, but the effect rapidly decreased as the ship was moved away, and at a distance of 3 and 4 cables in different directions was found to be small, while delicate magnetic instruments landed on Bezout island were entirely undisturbed.

As the disturbance is probably due to masses of magnetic mineral in the bed of the sea, and as the Meda's report had reference to a spot a mile and a half farther to seaward on the same direct line from cape Lambert, it is probable that other local magnetic centres may exist on the line of the submarine extension of that basaltic point.

Mariners should be on their guard, but any effect on the compasses, while under way, will be confined to a temporary deflection whilst traversing the very small area of disturbance.

Position of centre of disturbance, latitude 20° 32′ 35″ S., longitude 117° 13′ 5″ E.

Sunken rock south-west of south extreme of Rutland island.

WITH reference to Notice to Mariners, No. 206, dated the 29th December 1890, issued by this Office, the following information has been received from the British Admiralty (No. 46 of 1891) concerning an examination, made on 10th and 11th December 1890, in the I.M.S. Investigator, of the locality lying in a S.S.W. direction from the south extreme of Rutland island, in search of a sunken rock, with 3 fathoms water on it, reported by the Master of the S.S. Kohinur, as being situated with the south extreme of Rutland island bearing N. by E., distant 2 miles :—

An area about 2 miles in width (east and west), and extending about 4½ miles in a S. by W. direction from the south extreme of Rutland island, was closely sounded, the depths found being in general agreement with those shown on the Admiralty charts. The Investigator remained at anchor for 21 hours of daylight in the reported position of the rock above given, and although the tide ran about 1½ knots an hour for the greater part of the time, no indications of shoal water were seen, and Commander Hoskyn was satisfied that no shoal ground exists in the immediate locality.

A rock (Kohinur rock) was, however, found, with a depth of 3 fathoms on it, and nearly always marked by a tide rip, lying with the south extreme of Rutland island bearing N.N.E. ¾ E., distant 9 cables, and the south-west extreme of Rutland island N.N.W. ¾ W.; depths of under 10 fathoms extend about 3 cables north and south of Kohinur rock, and about 2 cables east and west of it; and a patch of 4½ fathoms lies on the north-east edge of this shoal ground.

Position of Kohinur rock, lat. 11° 19′ 50″ N.; long. 92° 35′ 25″ E.

The depths given are at low water ordinary spring tides.

COURT OF WARDS ACT, 1879, AMENDMENT BILL.

The Hon'ble Mr. Nolan moved for leave to introduce a Bill to amend the Court of Wards Act, 1879. He said:—

"Mr. President—You are aware that under the existing law the Court of Wards may assume charge of the property of proprietors paying land revenue when they are 'females declared by the Court incompetent to manage their own property; persons declared by the Court to be minors; persons adjudged by a competent Civil Court to be of unsound mind and incapable of managing their affairs; persons adjudged by a competent Civil Court to be otherwise rendered incapable by physical defects or infirmities of managing their own property, or persons who, having ceased to be subject to the jurisdiction of the Court, themselves prefer to remain under its protection, because co-sharers in their estates continue to occupy that position.' There are thus five classes of wards, and the object of the Bill which I now ask leave to introduce is to create a sixth, described as composed of 'persons as to whom the Local Government has, after due enquiry, declared, on their own application, that they are disqualified, and that it is expedient, in the public interest, that their estates should be managed by the Court of Wards.' A provision to this effect was included in a Bill passed by this Council in 1877, but it did not become law as the measure was not sanctioned by the Governor General in Council on account of a technical defect. In recurring to the proposal this Government has been influenced by the experience of certain cases in which proprietors have applied for protection, such as that given by the management of the Court. It will be within the knowledge of the members of this Council that in one instance of this kind, that of the Deo Estate in Gya, a special Act was passed with the consent of creditors; and there are others in which Government intervened executively to advise or assist. Where measures of this character are taken to preserve ancient families, or estates which should not be broken up, it seems expedient that the requisite action should be guided by some general law, such as that which controls the Court of Wards rather than by occasional enactment or individual discretion. The principle involved is to some extent accepted by the present law which, as I have indicated, permits the Court to retain or resume the management of the property of one class of persons not disqualified in any way, namely, wards who have attained their majority but prefer to let their estates remain under the Court on the ground of convenience, because their co-sharers are subject to its jurisdiction. It has, moreover, been pointed out by the Government of India that the law in other Provinces permits the Court to intervene in the cases contemplated by this measure.

"These considerations explain the first two sections of the Bill. The third is so obviously necessary that I need only read it: 'The Court shall not be empowered to take charge of the person of a proprietor disqualified on his own application.' In the fourth section, the needful provision is made for the withdrawal of the Court of Wards from the management of estates of the class in question, on the principle that the charge can be relinquished at any time at the discretion of the Court, and must be surrendered on the application of the proprietor; provided the property has been freed from encumbrances, but not otherwise. The fifth section is intended to withhold from the Court, in the cases contemplated by the Bill, powers exercised in regard to the property of deceased wards of other classes, but not considered necessary in the present instance. In order to explain the following clause, I may state that under the existing law adult wards of sound mind are not, like minors, limited to an allowance for maintenance, but receive the whole surplus income of their estates, after provision has been made for the cost of collection and for the discharge of debts. It is clearly expedient to follow the same procedure in regard to proprietors disqualified under this Bill.

"The last section is of a general character, for, though suggested by the circumstances of the class of wards created by the Bill, it is made applicable to all estates under the management of the Court. It is intended only to maintain what I understand to be the existing practice in Bengal, which protects property under the management of the Court from being sold or encumbered on account of debts incurred by the ward after he has assumed that character, and therefore has ceased to exercise control over such property. This seems very desirable, inasmuch as the Court could not manage with efficiency, property liable to be charged or alienated without its consent. The present law on the subject is contained in section 60 of the Act which is as follows:—'No ward shall be competent to create, without the sanction of the Court, any charge upon it or interest in his property or any part thereof.' Cases have from time to time come before the Privy Council and the High Court in which, notwithstanding the clause just read, an attempt has been made to enforce claims against the property held by the Court of Wards on account of liabilities incurred without sanction by the proprietor during the period of his disqualification; but I believe that in these provinces all such attempts have failed. The law is at present interpreted by Government with reference to an opinion given by the Legal Remembrancer, from which I may read an extract:—

'The position of a disqualified female—a ward—has been carefully considered in case No. 66 of 1881. The High Court (Field and MacDonell, JJ.) hold that she is competent to contract, but not so as to bind the corpus of her property which is under the charge of the Court of Wards. Her contract will be valid only as against the income paid to her and at her disposal.'

"But the Punjab Chief Court, in construing a clause practically identical with section 60 of our Court of Wards Act, 1879, has found that, as the ward may incur liabilities, and his property under the management of the Court is not expressly protected from sale on account of such liabilities, it can be attached or sold for his debts contracted while under protection. The Government of India has directed attention to this ruling as indicating that it may be advisable to introduce some further safeguard, and this seems specially advisable now that we are creating a class of wards some of whom will, in all probability, be most ready to incur debts. If we desire to maintain what, subject to the superior capacity of others in the Council to speak on such a subject, I may call the law as at present understood in Bengal, no harm can result from guarding it against a construction adopted elsewhere, and on what appear very reasonable grounds. This we do by adding to section 60 the following words:—'Nor shall any decree obtained upon a personal obligation of the ward be executed upon or against his property in the possession of the Court.' It will be understood that this restriction applies only to obligations contracted by the ward after he has assumed that character. His property is of course liable for any debts contracted by him before the Court assumed charge of his estate. It has been suggested that we should go still further and declare all wards incapable of entering into contracts, as has been done in the case of proprietors coming under the Chota Nagpore Encumbered Estates Act, 1876. But it is to be remembered that adult wards receiving the whole surplus proceeds of their estates may be perfectly solvent, and even rich, irrespective of the property held for them by the Court; also that, though disqualified for the difficult task of managing large estates paying revenue to Government, they may be quite capable of entering into the ordinary arrangements and contracts by which we all secure the necessities and conveniences of life.

"Under the circumstances, it seems difficult to adopt the proposal which has been made, I admit, on high authority, to exempt those wards from the primary obligation of paying debts and discharging liabilities of their own contracting. You will observe, Mr. President, that the Bill is of a permissive character. No power is given by which heirs or others interested can force an owner to accept the guardianship of the Court, as they can do under the Chota Nagpore Encumbered Estates Act, nor is Government in any way compelled to comply with an application though made by the proprietor of the largest estate. On the contrary, it is provided that the law shall take effect only when the public interest requires the adoption of such a course. I may add that it is the intention of this Government to insist that before charge of an estate is assumed by the Court of Wards strict conditions shall be observed, under rules passed by authority, requiring full enquiry, complete accounts and proof of special circumstances to justify State interference. I am well aware that proprietors, even when unable personally to manage their estates, can in these days secure the assistance of honest and capable agents and look forward to action being taken under this Bill only in very exceptional cases."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble Mr. Nolan applied to the President to suspend the Rules for the Conduct of Business to enable him to introduce the Bill, which was in the hands of Members, and to move that it be read in Council.

The President having declared the Rules suspended—

The Hon'ble Mr. Nolan introduced the Bill and moved that it be read in Council.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Bill was read accordingly.

PUBLIC DEMANDS RECOVERY ACT, 1880, AMENDMENT BILL.

The Hon'ble Mr. Allen moved for leave to introduce a Bill to amend the Public Demands Recovery Act, 1880. He said:—

"The change it is proposed to make in the law by the Bill, which has been put in my charge is absolutely nothing; but unfortunately it happened that in passing the Bill of 1880 through this Council, three words were allowed to remain in one line of section 7 which have proved a stumbling block in the High Court. I shall not on the present occasion say anything beyond drawing the attention of the Council to the practical necessity which exists for making the change which this amending Act makes in the wording of the section. In the year 1868, as is probably known to many Members of the Council, an Act was passed by which the recovery of debts due to the public was facilitated. In that Act the Collector of the district was authorized, in the case of certain dues, to record a certificate in his office, which certificate obtained the force of a decree of a Civil Court. In 1880 that Act was amended in this Council, and, instead of the power of recording certificates being confined to the Collector of the district, Sub-divisional Officers and officers empowered by the Government in that behalf to exercise the powers of a Collector, were authorized to record certificates. At the same time that this change was made in the officers empowered to declare debts, numberless forms of debts which were not recognized as realizable under the Certificate Act of 1868 were declared to be realizable under the Certificate Act of 1880. Whereas under the Act of 1868 the Collector of the district might have, during the course of a year, to record perhaps a dozen or two dozens of certificates, under the Act of 1880 the number has increased enormously. I have not the figures for the ten years since the Act has been in force, but I have taken the figures for seven years; and though there has been a constant declension in the number of certificates from 220,000 in 1883-84 to 167,000 in 1889-90, the average for the seven years gives 183,000 certificates to be recorded every year in Bengal. Supposing that these were equally distributed throughout the thirty odd districts in Bengal, a very large number would fall to the share of each district Collector. But, as a fact, they were not equally distributed, and in some districts I see from a letter of the Board of Revenue the number of certificates recorded has amounted to 20,000 in a single year. These certificates fall for the most part under section 7 of the Act of 1880, and it is in that section that the unfortunate words have been allowed to stand, which, as I have said, have given occasion lately to a decision of the High Court. These words are simply 'Collector of the district', and we propose to cut out the words 'of the district.'

"As to the merits of the High Court's decision, I shall say nothing at present, nor upon the matter of the law; but I shall simply point out that it would be unreasonable to throw upon the Collector of the district the mere formal recording of 20,000 certificates in a year. No possible advantage is gained from the Collector of the district signing. Calcutta is a small place compared to a mofussil district, and the number of inhabitants is a little over half a million, whereas in a district there are two or three millions. Would it be reasonable to require the Chairman of the Corporation to make out and sign every bill for taxes, &c., to be served on the rate-payers of the town, and on his failure to do that to declare that there was no legal obligation on the rate-payers to pay the amounts of the bills? It is an absurd duty to throw upon a high executive officer; and all we propose to do is to remove the excuse which the wording of the present Act affords for maintaining this objection. There will be no change made, as I say, in the law, and there will be no change made in the practice; for, at least since the year 1882, all these certificates have been without objection signed and made by the Deputy Collectors in charge of sub-divisions and by officers expressly authorized by the Lieutenant-Governor to exercise the powers of a Collector under the Act.

"I shall have, when the Bill is actually introduced, something more to say on the matter from a legal point of view; but at present I merely point out, as a practical necessity, that it is impossible that such a principle should be recognized as the High Court lays down, namely, that every one of these contemptible certificates for Rs. 2 or Rs. 5 of road cess or water cess, and so on, must be made and signed by the Collector of the district."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble Mr. Allen applied to the President to suspend the Rules for the Conduct of Business in order that the Bill may be read in Council.

The Hon'ble the President said:—"As the Hon'ble Mr. Allen's speech has given reasons for the necessity of pushing forward this Bill as quickly as possible, and we hope it may be declared to be law at the meeting of the Council next Saturday, I therefore declare the rules of procedure to be suspended."

The Hon'ble Mr. Allen then introduced the Bill and moved that it be read in Council.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Bill was read accordingly.

The Hon'ble Mr. Allen also moved that at the next meeting of the Council on Saturday next the Bill be taken into consideration.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Council adjourned to Saturday, the 14th March, 1891.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE MONTH OF FEBRUARY 1891.

THE important features in the meteorology of February in Bengal have been—

1. Pressure has been everywhere above the normal, the excess usually ranging from about two to four-hundredths of an inch. The variations from day to day have been unusually large almost throughout the month.

2. Temperature for the month has on the average been slightly below the normal in all districts of Bengal except North Bengal, where there has been a slight excess. In Assam also temperature has been very slightly in excess of the normal. The variations of temperature during the month have also been unusually large.

3. Humidity has been below the normal in the south-western districts of Bengal and Orissa, but it has been generally above it elsewhere. Cloud proportion has been smaller than usual in Behar and probably North Bengal, and above it in South-West and East Bengal, but it has been about normal elsewhere.

4. Two important barometric depressions which had existed over North-Western India affected Bengal during the month. The first only gave a very feeble depression which advanced over Bengal, giving a few showers in Behar, but by the heavy snowfall which was produced by it in the Himalayas, a wave of very low temperature was caused which gave to Bengal a period of unusually cold weather about the end of the first week of the month. The second depression actually advanced through Bengal in a modified form and gave unusually heavy and general rain.

5. The rainfall in Bengal was almost entirely confined to the period 20th to 25th of February, and was brought by the second of the two barometric depressions. The falls have been about three times as large as the normal in East and North Bengal, about twice as large in South-West Bengal and North Behar, considerably in excess of the normal in Orissa and South Behar, and about normal in Chutia Nagpur. In Assam also general rain, averaging about one and-a-half to nearly two inches, appears to have fallen.

At the commencement of the month the weather conditions in Bengal and Assam were fairly normal for the season, but on the 1st of February another deep barometric depression made its appearance in North-Western India, and on the 2nd an exceptionally deep storm covered the north-west of the Punjab, the depression at the centre exceeding half an inch. On this day both the pressure variations and the wind directions at the Western Behar stations showed the influence of the storm, while in front of it temperature rose rapidly over almost the whole of Bengal. The main part of the storm apparently broke up against the Himalayas, and on the 3rd a very feeble subsidiary depression only existed in parts of the North-West Provinces and Behar, which was only sufficiently influential to give two or three light showers in the Chumparun district of Behar. On the 4th the feeble depression had travelled into North Bengal and Assam, and apparently it afterwards disappeared. The rapid rise of temperature in front of the storm continued, and temperature became very largely above the normal in Bengal. A heavy fall of snow had, however, accompanied the breaking up of the major part of the storm in the North-West Himalayas and following in the wake of the storm a wave of cold air commenced to flow over Bengal. On the morning of the 5th the fall in the mean temperature varied from 2° to 9°; on the 6th there was a further fall of from 4° to 6°, and on the 7th a further fall of 3° to 6°, and the mean temperature at many stations became about 10° below the normal. A rapid increase of pressure then set in which continued for about a week, and then for a few days rather variable conditions set in. On the 17th and 18th the north westerly wind current, which had previously been blowing, rapidly fell off in strength and steadiness, and on the 19th even southerly winds set in at the southern stations in Bengal, and there had been on the same day a rapid fall of pressure averaging 0·15 inch. This appears to have been connected with the formation of a depression over Northern India, and on the 20th a deep barometric depression appeared over Central Punjab which was attended by very steep baric gradients and by a strong cyclonic circulation of winds. On the 21st the depression had advanced in a south-easterly direction and was near Sirsa, and the whole of the wind system in Bengal formed part of the cyclonic circulation accompanying the storm. On the 22nd the deep depression had to a great extent disappeared, and a large and hollow low-pressure area stretched from Orissa and the neighbouring parts of South-West Bengal through Chutia Nagpur to the Punjab. On the 23rd the low-pressure area had extended over South Bengal, and on the 24th it had again travelled a short distance in a south-easterly direction and was partly over the Bay; while on the 25th a general increase of pressure took place over the Bay and the depression disappeared. With the advance of the depression towards and over Bengal very disturbed conditions immediately set in, and rain commenced in most districts, which continued to be more or less general, and in many districts decidedly heavy, up till the 25th, when it practically ceased and weather again became fine up till the close of the month.

Pressure.—Owing to the influence of the depression previously noticed, the mean pressure for the first week of February was distinctly below the normal, the defects ranging from a twentieth of an inch in the southern districts to a tenth of an inch at some stations in North Bengal. In the second week the mean pressure had become in excess of the normal by more than a tenth of an inch, while in South Behar an excess of a sixth of an inch was registered in some cases. In the third week the variations of pressure were exceptionally large, but the mean pressure was in excess by only three to five-hundredths of an inch, while in the fourth week the mean pressure was again in excess by about the same amount. For the whole month, therefore, the mean pressure has been in excess, the usual excess being from about two to four-hundredths of an inch in Bengal, while it is somewhat smaller than this in Assam.

Temperature.—The main features in the temperature changes during the month have already been referred to, and the rapid fall of temperature produced by the cold wave of air descending from Upper India about the end of the first week was perhaps the most striking feature, and thus about this time some exceptionally low minimum temperatures were recorded. Thus Motihari on the 7th registered 39°, Hazaribagh on the 6th 39·9°, Arrah on the 7th 40·4°. In the southern districts Krishnagur on the 7th registered 42·8°, Burdwan 45·2°, and Calcutta 46·3°. In all cases these are remarkably low temperatures, though not the lowest known. In the case of Calcutta a lower temperature than this was recorded on the 29th of December 1878, when a minimum temperature of 45° was registered.

For the first and second weeks the average mean temperature of the province was in defect by about half a degree. In the third week there was an excess of almost similar amount, while in the fourth week the mean temperature was in defect by 1·2°. For the whole month the mean temperature has been about one degree below the normal in Chutia Nagpur and North Behar, about half a degree below it in East and South-West Bengal, and about a third of a degree below it in Orissa and South Behar. North Bengal, on the other hand, shows an excess of 0·7° and Assam an excess of 0·2°.

The following table shows generally the variation of the mean temperature from the normal, week by week, at nine typical stations in the province :—

Rainfall.—The periods of rainfall have already been dealt with. The heaviest falls have occurred in East Bengal, which has received 3·21 inches, or rather more than three times as much as the normal amount. In North Bengal the fall has averaged 2·15 inches, or between three and four times the normal. In South-West Bengal a fall of 2·03 inches has been recorded, or twice as much as usual. In Orissa the fall has averaged 1·52 inches, or about half as much again as usual; and in North Behar an average fall of an inch has been received, which is rather more than twice the normal fall. In South Behar the fall has averaged seven-tenths of an inch, which is about 50 per cent. in excess of the usual fall; while in Chutia Nagpur the actual falls have averaged 0·61 inch, while the normal fall is 0·67 inch, so that practically a normal fall was received. In Bengal the various districts have generally received abundant falls, the only exception being Chittagong, which district has been almost rainless. The Chittagong Hill Tracts have also received rather small falls. In Assam, Sibsagar has received 1·82 inches, Dhubri 1·79 inches, and Silchar 1·40 inches.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

* Means of 6 days.

Explanation.—Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical average or means of the reading during the same period for the last [illegible]. The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed as percentage, saturated air being presented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 10. The numbers are the numerical means or average of the rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in by the sub-divisional station for the period in question during the past [illegible] stations in the district sending in returns divided by the number of stations. A rainy day is one on which at least tenth of an inch fall.

for the week ending Saturday, the 14th of March 1891.

Explanation.—.....indicate that no rain has fallen. If the return for any day has not been received, the corresponding space is left blank. If any of the returns are wanting, the corresponding spaces in the total rainfall columns are left blank. With reference to the column of rainy days, the definition of a rainy day is when at least 0·1 inch of rain has fallen.

CALCUTTA, the 17th March 1891.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING SATURDAY, THE 14TH OF MARCH 1891.

At the close of the previous week weather conditions over the whole of Bengal had been somewhat disturbed, and fairly general rain had fallen, generally accompanying local storms. On the 7th, pressure had been distinctly low over Orissa, almost amounting to a barometric depression over this area On the 8th a general slight fall of pressure took place, and the distribution of pressure over the province remained rather abnormal, a distinct band of comparatively high pressure stretching from east to west across the centre of the province, while pressure was somewhat low in North Bengal and North Behar, and very decidedly low over parts of Orissa and Ganjam. Winds also were north-east in South Bengal and Orissa, and generally west and north-west over the remainder of the province. Conditions therefore continued disturbed on this day. On the 9th a rapid fall of pressure took place, but the fall was by decidedly irregular amounts over different parts of the province, while the winds blowing over the province also became very irregular in direction, in some cases blowing from opposite directions at neighbouring stations, pointing to the continuance of the disturbed conditions. Conditions on the 10th were to a great extent similar to those of the 9th, a further irregular fall of pressure having taken place, while winds were also decidedly irregular. Conditions were again unchanged in Bengal on the 11th, and in addition a decided barometric depression formed over North-Western India, which was accompanied by a well-marked and rather strong cyclonic circulation of winds. On the 12th pressure was falling at the western stations in Behar and Chutia Nagpur, while it was rising rather rapidly over the remainder of the province. Winds also on this date became easterly and south-easterly at almost all stations, and the depression over North-Western India was reported to have intensified and to have moved in a northerly direction. It would therefore appear that the changes of pressure in Behar and the general wind directions over the whole of the province were connected with this depression. On the 13th a rapid fall of pressure took place, the fall in some cases at the foot of the hills in North Behar equalling about a tenth of an inch, and pressure became about a twentieth of an inch in defect of the normal in parts of Behar, Chutia Nagpur, and Western Bengal, while the abnormal south-easterly wind current generally continued and weather condition on this day were particularly disturbed. On the 14th the barometric depression over Northern India was rapidly filling up; pressure had risen in the west of the province by about a twentieth of an inch, while in the east and south-east it had fallen by more than this amount, pointing also to the movement of the enfeebled depression in an easterly direction. Winds also changed very considerably on this day, and north-westerly winds were reported at almost all the stations except in the extreme east of the province, where winds were still easterly. It will therefore be seen that throughout the week disturbed conditions have obtained over the greater part of the province, and as the result of these conditions local storms, heavy rain and rather high winds and generally disturbed weather have been of frequent occurrence in all districts. In Orissa local storms with rain have been general almost throughout the week; in South-West Bengal the storms have been fairly general from the 9th or 10th to the 13th; in East and North Bengal and in Behar they have occurred from the 10th or 11th to the end of the week, while in Chutia Nagpur they have occurred from about the 9th or 10th to the 13th.

Pressure.—The mean pressure for the week has been generally not very far removed from the normal, and at most stations, except in two or three districts, an excess of one or two-hundredths of an inch has been registered. The districts, on the other hand, where slight defective pressures have been registered are Chutia Nagpur, Orissa, and the neighbouring stations of South-West Bengal and parts of Behar. In Darjeeling an exceptionally large defective pressure of 0·088 inch has been registered, and this probably points to the fact that the main barometric depression which was indicated over Northern India passed along the line of the hills, giving probably very disturbed weather and heavy snowfall along the inner ranges of hills.

Temperature.—Owing to the particularly abnormal conditions and to the very heavy rainfall which has been occurring during the past week, temperature has been exceptionally low. On the 14th, in particular, the mean temperature at the various stations in the province was from about 9° to 13° at the northern stations, to 5° at the southern stations below the normal for the day. For the whole week the mean temperature of the province has been about five to six degrees below the normal, the smallest defects of about three degrees occurring in Orissa and East Bengal, and the largest of about seven degrees occurring in Chutia Nagpur and South Behar.

The peculiar distribution of temperature for the week and its excessive variation from the normal are clearly seen in the table below, where the average maximum, minimum, and mean temperatures at nine typical stations in different districts of the province are compared with the normal values for the same period. The largest, indeed the principal, variations from the normal, it will be seen, have occurred in the day or maximum temperatures, which have generally been about ten degrees below the normal for the period :—

Rainfall.—All districts have received heavy rain during the week, the amounts generally varying from about one and-a-half to two and-a-half inches. The heaviest falls have occurred in Orissa and South-West Bengal, where they have equalled two and-a quarter to two and-a-half inches, while all the other districts received average amounts varying from one and-a-half to one and-three-quarter inches. The falls have therefore been most abnormally heavy for this period of the year, and in most districts, except East Bengal, they represent from five to nearly twenty times as much as should fall in normal years.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Saturday, the 14th of March 1891 :—

MEMORANDUM.

Monthly statistics of deaths registered in forty-five districts of Bengal for the month of December 1890.

THE total deaths registered in forty-five districts of Bengal during the month of December 1890 numbered 205,387, and correspond to an annual rate of 37·32 per 1,000 of the aggregate population of those districts, which is 65,859,534. This rate is 7·20 higher than the average rate of the corresponding months of the past five years 1885—89, and is also higher than the rate of the corresponding period of any of the past five years with which comparison is instituted, vide the figures below :—

	1885.	1886.	1887.	1888.	1889.	Monthly average of five years 1885—89.	1890.
Ratio of deaths per 1,000 of the population per annum	29·38	33·84	26·16	30·09	33 69	30·12	37 32

The mortality-rate during December 1890, as will be seen from the following table, was also higher than the previous months of the year :—

1890.	Number of deaths.	Ratio per 1,000 of population.	1890.	Number of deaths.	Ratio per 1,000 of population.
January	124,646	22 68	July	115,590	21·00

June	115,004	20 88	December	205,387	37·32

Of the total deaths, 106,204 (ratio 39· per 1,000) occurred among the male population and 99,183 (ratio 35·76 per 1,000) among the female, that is to say, 109 males died to every 100 females, calculated on the proportion such mortality bears to the total male and female population.

The following table shows the highest proportions of deaths registered during the month of December 1890, compared with the corresponding month of 1889 :—

Julpaiguri	41 28	49·44
Bogra	39 36	45·00

The highestdeath-rate occurred in Faridpore, 84 36 per 1,000, and the lowest in Sonthal Pergunnahs, 15·60. The highdeath-rate in Faridpore is mainly due to an excessive mortality from cholera, viz., 7,011 deaths (ratio 51·48 per 1,000) out of a total of 11,483 (ratio 84·36 per 1,000).

The total mortality during the month under review from the several registered death causes is compared in the following table with the mortality from those causes in the corresponding month of 1889 and the average of the five years 1885—89 :—

	Ratio per mille during— Dec. 1890.	Dec. 1889.	Monthly average of five years 1885—89.
Cholera	5·04	1·20	2·16
Small-pox	·12	·08	·04

Bowel-complaints	·84	·96	84
Injury	·12	·12	·12
Other causes	5·16	4·92	4 08

It will be seen that the death-rate of December 1890 under the head cholera is considerably higher than in the two past periods with which it is compared. Compared, however, with the average figures of the past five years 1885—89, there is a noticeable increase in the mortality of December 1890 under the heads fever and other causes.

The highest annual death-rates from cholera, fever, and other causes occurred in the following districts:—

PAYMENT OF RENT BY MEANS OF POSTAL MONEY-ORDERS

REVENUE DEPARTMENT—LAND REVENUE.

Calcutta, the 19th March 1891.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

Letter from the Board of Revenue, No. 110A, dated the 18th February, 1891, recommending the extension of the system of payment of rents by postal money-orders.

Read again—

Government notification of the 16th October, 1886, promulgating rules for the payment of revenue not exceeding Rs. 50 a year in amount by means of postal money-orders in the Burdwan and Dacca Divisions.

Government notification of the 2nd April, 1887, extending the above rules to all the districts in the Lower Provinces.

Government Resolution of the 20th March, 1888, further extending the above rules to all demands on account of land revenue, of whatever amount, and also to zemindari and other cesses.

Government Resolution, dated the 19th July, 1889, introducing experimentally the system in the Burdwan Division of payment of rent by means of postal money-order.

Government Resolution, dated the 8th May 1890, extending the above system to the Burdwan, Rajshahye, Presidency and Dacca Divisions.

IN the Government Resolution of the 8th May 1890 it was described how the system of payment of revenue by money-order was originally introduced in 1886 as an experimental measure in certain selected districts, and having proved successful was made general throughout those parts of Bengal where the Tenancy Act was in force with effect from the 1st May 1887. In July 1889 the system was extended to the payment of rent, also as an experimental measure and in the division of Burdwan only, and in April 1890 the Board of Revenue recommended that the privilege of payment of rent by money-order should be extended generally. The Lieutenant-Governor did not, however, at that time consider it expedient to adopt throughout Bengal a system which might have important consequences, and which had so far been only tried in a single division. It was accordingly ordered that with effect from the 1st July 1890 rent might be paid by money-order in the Rajshahye, Presidency and Dacca Divisions in addition to that of Burdwan. The Board have now submitted a report which shows that the result of the experiment in those divisions has been very satisfactory, and recommend that the system be extended to all districts of Bengal in which Act VIII of 1885 is in force; and the Postmaster-General considers that the extension is fully justified by the results considered from a postal point of view. The Lieutenant-Governor is accordingly pleased to direct, under section 54 (2) of the Bengal Tenancy Act, VIII of 1885, that from the 1st of July, 1891, payment of rent by means of postal money-order will be authorized in all the districts of Bengal in which the Bengal Tenancy Act is in force.

ORDER.—Ordered that this Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

C. E. BUCKLAND,
Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

Power to Local Government to extend definition of "factory."

20. Notwithstanding anything in clause (b) of the definition of the word "factory" in section 2, the Local Government may from time to time, by notification in the official Gazette, declare any premises, or premises of any class, which fulfil the other conditions of the said definition, to be a factory for all the purposes of this Act, or for such of those purposes as may be specified in the notification, if the number of persons simultaneously employed in the premises on any day in any manual labour in, or incidental to, any such process as is referred to in the said clause (b) is less than fifty and not less than twenty.

(2) The Local Government may, by such notification, fix any number below fifty and not below twenty as the number of persons whose simultaneous employment as aforesaid is to be held to subject premises, as a factory, to all or any of the provisions of this Act and of the orders and rules made thereunder.

CAPE OTWAY.—Intended re-exhibition of permanent light; and discontinuance of provisional light.

WITH reference to Notice to Mariners No. 168, dated 3rd November 1890, issued by this Office, the British Admiralty has given further notice (No. 83 of 1891) that on 1st April 1891 (and not about the month of August 1891 as previously stated) the permanent light will be re-exhibited; and the provisional light discontinued :—

Cape Otway permanent light will be a group flashing white light showing three flashes every minute, visible from the bearing of E. by S., through north, to W. ¼ S., and should be seen in clear weather from a distance of about 24 miles.

The illuminating apparatus will be dioptric, or by lenses of the first order.

The stone light-house remains unaltered. The red danger light will be exhibited as heretofore.

ARAFURA SEA.

Victoria shoal unsuccessfully searched for.

THE following Notice to Mariners (No. 84 of 1891), issued by the British Admiralty, is republished :—

Victoria shoal, charted as lying in approximately lat. 9° 13′ S., long. 131° 25′ E., was searched for during two days under favourable conditions of weather; a quadrilateral area, extending about 10 miles in an east and west direction, with a breadth of about 6 miles, over and around the reported position of the shoal, was sounded, the depths obtained being 120 to 170 fathoms; and no indication of shoal water was observed.

Consequent on this examination, and an examination made by H. M. Surveying Vessel Rambler in 1887, the rock has been removed from the Admiralty Charts, and "Site of Victoria shoal unsuccessfully searched for" has been placed near the position.

SERWATTI ISLANDS.

Particulars of Brisbane island.

Brisbane island (apparently lying near the south-east edge of an extensive area of shoal ground and scattered islets), with clumps of trees about 115 feet high, extends about 1¼ miles in a north-west and south-east direction, with a breadth of about 4 cables; a coral reef, drying at low water, with a narrow opening for small vessels about 3 miles northward of the island, fringes it seaward to a distance of about 5 cables; a small islet, with bushes 10 to 15 feet high, lies about 6 cables south-west of the island.

The south extreme of Brisbane island, which may be recognised by a conspicuous bush, was determined by reliable observations on board the Egeria, to be situated in lat. 8° 21′ S., long. 128° 30′ E.

EASTERN ARCHIPELAGO.

Position of Emma rocks or bank.

Emma rocks, charted as lying in lat. 7° 51′ S., long. 117° 19′ E., were sighted at the distance of about 5 miles, and appeared as a sandbank. The approximate position, deduced from astronomical observations on board the Egeria, is lat. 7° 54′ S, long. 117° 16′ E., or about 4 miles south-west of that previously charted.

Consequent on the foregoing, the E. D. near Emma rocks has been removed from the Admiralty Charts.

Non-existence of discoloured water.

The "discoloured water" reported by H.M.S. Salamander in 1867, in lat. 6° 21′ S., long. 112° 19′ E., was passed without being seen: and as it is not shown on the Netherlands Government charts, nor known of by the Naval Authorities at Surabaya, it has been expunged from the Admiralty charts.

CARIMATA STRAIT APPROACH.

Hector bank, Stephan reef, and Emerald shoal unsuccessfully searched for.

Hector bank (lat. 3° 46′ S., long 110° 7′ E.), Stephan reef (lat. 3° 6′ S., long. 109° 16′ E.), and Emerald shoal (lat. 1° 0′ S., long. 107° 3′ E.) were searched for unsuccessfully, but, considering the circumstances of the original reports, and the small size of many known dangers in these waters, they are all retained on Admiralty charts.

MORETON BAY.

New survey—Entrance to North or Howe Channel.

THE Portmaster, Brisbane, has given notice (No. 3 of 1891) that the south-east extreme of the North banks has grown to the eastward about one-third of a mile, and a small sand patch, with only 18 feet on it at low-water ordinary spring tides, and extending 2 cables S.E. by E. and N.W. by W., has been discovered about a cable to the westward of the line of leading lights. Cape Moreton light-house bears from this patch S.E. by E. ½ E. easterly.

Vessels using the North Channel must therefore be careful not to get to the westward of the line of leading lights when nearing this danger.

Discontinuance of Fort Zelandia light, and exhibition of Amping light.

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No. 91 of 1891) that on 3rd November 1890, Fort Zelandia light was discontinued; and that on the same date a new light, to be known as Amping light, was exhibited from an iron frame mast, painted white, erected about 340 yards in a N.W. by W. direction from the large tree in Fort Zelandia:—

Amping light is a fixed white light, visible from the bearing of S. 38° W., through east, to N. 51° W., elevated 82 feet above the sea, and should be seen in clear weather from a distance of 10 miles.

The illuminating apparatus is dioptric, or by lenses of the sixth order.

Approximate position on Admiralty Charts: lat. 23° 0′ 25″ N., long. 120° 9′ 50″ E.

NOTE.—During the north-east monsoon vessels may anchor in 5½ to 6 fathoms, with Amping light bearing between N.E. ½ E. and N.E. by E. ½ E. During the south-west monsoon the best anchorage will be found in 6 to 7 fathoms, with the light bearing about N.E. ½ N.

SANDWICH ISLAND.

Non-existence of shoal reported to extend off Laeloa or Barber Point.

WITH reference to Notice to Mariners, No. 565 of 1890, that a shoal had been reported to extend a considerable distance southward of Laeloa or Barber point, the south-west extreme off Oahu, the British Admiralty has given further notice (No. 92 of 1891) that the following information has been received from Commander C. T. Turner, H.M.S. Nymphe, the result of recent examinations made of the locality :—

On 29th November 1890, from a position about 4 miles southward of Laeloa or Barber point, the Nymphe steered towards the light-house on that point, with look-outs on deck and aloft; the day was bright with a moderate southerly swell, and any danger would have been seen to break; the lead gave no bottom at 80 and 70 fathoms until the light-house bore N. ¾ W., distant about 2 miles, when a depth of 85 fathoms (sand and coral) was obtained; with the light-house on nearly the same bearing and distant about 1¼ miles the water shoaled quickly to about 14 fathoms; and to 5 and 3 fathoms at the distances of one mile and 7 cables respectively; other soundings extending about 1¼ miles both northward and eastward of the point gave similar depths at a somewhat less distance from the land.

On 2nd December further examination was made in the Nymphe and her steam cutter, when although there was no wind and only a slight swell, the surf broke in about 3 fathoms; from the sudden shoaling, the sea probably breaks in much deeper water with southerly gales. The edge of the shoal ground, about 1¾ miles southward of Barber point, and in about the depth of 20 fathoms, is well marked by change in the colour of the water; the point itself is very low.

Consequent on this examination, the Cautionary note:—"A shoal is reported to extend off Barber point," has been removed from the Admiralty Chart.

Kudat harbour entrance—Intended fixed light on Sandilands rock.

THE following Notice to Mariners, issued by the British Admiralty (No. 100 of 1891), is republished :—

Information has been received from Lieutenant and Commander E. Rason, H.M.S. Plover, dated 13th January 1891, that a light-house is in course of construction on Sandilands rock, Kudat harbour entrance, and from which a light will shortly be exhibited :—

Sandilands rock light will be a fixed light, showing sectors of white and red light, elevated 7 feet above high water, and should be visible in clear weather from a distance of about 6 miles.

The light-house, erected on piles, will be about 10 feet high.

Approximate position : lat. 6° 52′ 20″ N., long. 116° 52′ 5″ E.

Also, that on the exhibition of Sandilands rock light the fixed white light on the fort at Kudat will be discontinued, and the fixed red light on the jetty will be so screened, that on its becoming obscured when entering the harbour, the course may be altered towards the jetty on the bearing the light was lost sight of.

Harbour light at Maski

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No. 68 of 1891) that on 25th December 1890 a harbour light would be exhibited from a light-house erected at the town of Maski (Mashike):—

Maski harbour light is a fixed white light, visible through an arc of 207½ or from the bearing of N. 86° E., through south, to N. 67° W. It is elevated 134 feet above the sea, and should be seen in clear weather from a distance of six miles.

Less depths found on Quetta and Mid rocks.

WITH reference to Notice to Mariners No. 139, dated the 22nd September 1890, issued by this office, the British Admiralty has given further notice (No. 71 of 1891) that in consequence of a minute search in the course of a resurvey of the vicinity it has been found that Quetta rock has a depth of 9 feet over it at low water spring tides, instead of 2¼ fathoms as hitherto charted.

Position, lat. 10° 40′ 5″ S., long. 142° 38′ 5″ E.

PORT REFUGE—Coral patch on south side of entrance.

THE following Notice to Mariners, issued by the British Admiralty (No. 76 of 1891), is republished:—

Information has been received from the Naval Commander in Chief on the China station that H. M. S. Redpole, drawing 13 feet, touched on and passed over some branch coral on the south side of entrance to port Refuge, lying with the west extreme of Direction island bearing N.E. ½ N., and the centre of Workhouse island E. by N., distant 1 1/10 miles.

Approximate position, lat. 12° 6′ S., long. 96° 52′ 25″ E.

As it is probable that the coral on which the Redpole touched is connected with the reef southward of it, the danger line on the Chart and Plan has been extended outwards encircling the position.

NOTE.—The channels between the reefs in port Refuge are overgrown with a dark weed, which gives the bottom the appearance of coral, even when it is sand. The wreck of an iron vessel (very conspicuous) lies on the reef on the western side of the entrance with the centre of Workhouse island bearing E. ½ S., distant 1 7/10 miles. It is stated also, on local authority, that coral heads with only a few feet water on them exist on the reefs both northward and southward of the port.

CHUSAN ARCHIPELAGO.

Non-existence of East rock.

THE following information has been received from the British Admiralty (No. 61 of 1891) relative to an unsuccessful search, made in December 1890, for East rock, charted as lying with East islet, bearing W. by N. ½ N., distant 1 8/10 miles.

The recent search for East rock was made under favourable conditions of weather, with a considerable swell running, rendering it impossible that a rock awash (as East rock has been supposed to be), or even with 9 feet water on it, could escape detection. A quadrilateral area, about 3½ miles in extent, over and around the reported position of the rock, was closely sounded, showing a level bottom with general depths of 12 to 13 fathoms, over mud; a careful look out was kept from the deck and aloft; but no indication of shoal water was observed.

Consequent on the foregoing, and from information previously received from Commander Dawson as to the probable non-existence of East rock, also from consideration of the original evidence of its existence, it has been removed from the Admiralty Charts.

Abstract of the Proceedings of the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, assembled for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations under the provisions of the Act of Parliament 24 and 25 Vic., Cap. 67.

THE Council met at the Council Chamber on Saturday, the 14th March, 1891.

Present:

The HON'BLE SIR CHARLES ALFRED ELLIOTT, K.C.S.I., Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, presiding.

The HON'BLE SIR CHARLES PAUL, K.C.I.E., Advocate-General.

The HON'BLE H. J. S. COTTON.

The HON'BLE P. NOLAN.

The HON'BLE T. T. ALLEN.

The HON'BLE SIR HENRY HARRISON, KT.

The HON'BLE SIR ALFRED CROFT, K.C.I.E.

The HON'BLE SHAHZADA MAHOMMED FURROKH SHAH.

The HON'BLE DR. RASH BEHARI GHOSE.

The HON'BLE A. H. WALLIS.

The HON'BLE MAHARAJAH SIR HARENDRA KISHORE SING BAHADUR, K.C.I.E.

COURT OF WARDS ACT, 1879, AMENDMENT BILL.

THE HON'BLE MR. NOLAN moved that the Bill to amend the Court of Wards Act, 1879, be referred to a Select Committee consisting of the Hon'ble Sir Charles Paul, the Hon'ble Mr. Allen, the Hon'ble Sir Henry Harrison, the Hon'ble Dr. Rash Behari Ghose, the Hon'ble Maharajah Sir Harendra Kishore Sing Bahadur and the Mover.

The HON'BLE DR. RASH BEHARI GHOSE said:—"I object to this motion being brought forward under Rule 32 of the rules passed last year, which provides as follows:—'No such motion shall be made until after a copy of the Bill and a copy of the Statement of Objects and Reasons have been furnished to each member. Any member may object to the motion unless such copies have been furnished to him at least seven days previously; and such objection shall prevail unless the President, in exercise of his discretion, allows the motion to be made.' Copies of this Bill and Statement of Objects and Reasons were delivered to the members on Saturday last. I submit therefore that they have not been delivered at least seven days previously within the meaning of Rule 32, which in law means seven clear days excluding both the terminal days. In Maxwell on Statutes it is said:—'Again, when so many 'clear days,' or so many days 'at least,' are given to do an act, or 'not less than' so many days are to intervene, both the terminal days are excluded from the computation.

"Now if you exclude the two terminal days, Saturday and to-day, there would be only six days left. This objection may seem to be a technical one, but my object in raising it is that sufficient time ought to be given to consider the principle of the Bill. This is the last occasion on which the principle of the Bill can be discussed under the Rules of the Council, and the Bill, notwithstanding that it is a very short one, does involve an important question of principle; but apart from that I submit I am entitled to a postponement under Rule 32."

The HON'BLE MR. NOLAN said:—"The hon'ble member's objection is founded on the supposition that this is the last occasion on which the principle of the Bill can be discussed; but I submit that, according to the rules of Council, the principle of a Bill can be discussed at a later period, and that it has rather been our practice to postpone the more serious debate until after the presentation of the Select Committee's report. Rule 33 provides that the principle of a Bill and its general provisions may be discussed on the motion to go into Select Committee, but it by no means excludes their examination at another stage."

The HON'BLE SIR CHARLES PAUL said:—"I think the analogy does not hold good in this case. In the case referred to, the rule provided seven clear days. It has always been the practice to send out papers for the Council meeting on the Saturday previous. I do not think the hon'ble member is supported by the authority which he has quoted."

The HON'BLE DR. RASH BEHARI GHOSE said in reply:—"If members are at liberty to discuss the principle of the Bill at a later stage I beg to withdraw my objection."

The HON'BLE THE PRESIDENT said:—"I think the hon'ble member has done wisely in withdrawing his objection, especially as it has been explained that the principle of the Bill can be discussed at a later stage. We are now engaged in carrying this measure forward a formal stage by appointing a Select Committee, and in that Committee not only the details but the principle of the Bill can be considered."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

PUBLIC DEMANDS RECOVERY ACT, 1880, AMENDMENT BILL.

THE HON'BLE MR. ALLEN moved that the Bill to amend the Public Demands Recovery Act, 1880, be taken into consideration by the Council. He said:—

"On the last occasion I stated to the Council that this so-called amending Bill in reality makes no change in the law, and it now remains for me to justify that statement. The dictum of the High Court to which I alluded must therefore be cleared away. That dictum is contained in the following words:—

'Under section 7 of the Act VII of 1880 a certificate under the Act must be made and filed by the Collector of the district. It is however, clear that the certificate, in execution of which the plaintiff's estate was sold, was not made or signed by the Collector of the district, but by a Deputy Collector. The Subordinate Judge in his judgment has observed that this Deputy Collector has been authorized by the Lieutenant-Governor to discharge the functions of a Collector under Bengal Act VII of 1880, and no doubt by section 4 of the Act the term 'Collector' has been defined to mean the Collector of a district or any officer specially appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor to perform the functions of a Collector under the Act. But throughout the Act the distinction is clearly drawn between the Collector of a district and a Collector (see sections 5, 9, 15, &c.), and an officer specially appointed to perform the functions of a Collector can only have the powers of the latter and not of the former.'

"The rest of the observations are in the nature of reasoning outside the terms of the Act and do not need any refutation. Now, if we turn to Act VII of 1880, we shall find that the term 'Collector of the district' occurs in the Act in three sections, and only three. To consider how far the words in the two sections other than that to which the High Court has referred support the interpretation which has been put upon the words in section 7, I shall begin at the end. In section 15 it says: 'The Collector of a district may refer to any Deputy Collector, or Assistant Commissioner or Extra Assistant Commissioner subordinate to him any such petition as is mentioned in section 12, and such Deputy Collector, &c., shall hear and determine such petition accordingly.'

"Now the subject-matter of a petition under section 12, which can thus be referred, is to determine on the validity or invalidity of a certificate, the justness of which has been called in question by the debtor. I presume that no one will deny that the pronouncing upon the validity or invalidity of a questioned certificate is a more serious and responsible duty than simply to record a certificate against which no question is raised, and to which the debtor takes no exception. Yet this more serious and responsible duty the Collector of the district is thus empowered to divest himself of, and any Deputy Collector by that delegation is recognized in the Act as having all the powers of the Collector of the district for the determination of the question. Can it be pretended, then, with any reason, that an officer who is specially appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor to discharge all the functions of a Collector is under the Act not competent to perform the less serious and less responsible duty, namely, that of recording certificates? Furthermore, when we refer back to section 12, we find that the duty of receiving petitions in the first instance is not imposed on the Collector of the district, but simply on 'the Collector;' so that it seems that the words 'Collector of the district' are used indiscriminately with 'Collector' in this matter.

"The second place where the words 'Collector of the district' are found is section 9, which says—

'When any arrear of any of the public demands specified in section 7 is unpaid by any person liable to pay such public demand to a public officer other than a Collector, * * such officer may give to the Collector of the district in which such person resides * * a notice in writing, &c.'

"Here we have first a demand stated as being payable to an officer other than a Collector, and notice is to be given to the Collector of the district in which the debtor resides, &c. Evidently the words 'of the district' is a mere note of locality indicating to which Collector among many the officer is to send his requisition. In a later paragraph of this section we find it stated that 'on receipt of such notice such Collector (it does not say 'such Collector of the district') if satisfied that such demand is justly recoverable' may do so and so. It appears therefore that the use of the words 'Collector of the district' in the only two sections where they are used other than in section 7 lends no countenance to the interpretation which has been placed upon the words, and there is no radical distinction between the two officers recognized throughout the Act.

"Now in section 7 it is true that after the enumeration of a number of claims of various kinds recoverable by certificate, the section runs:—'The Collector of the district may make under his hand * * a certificate of the amount of such arrears so remaining unpaid, and may cause the same to be filed in his office.' Though it here speaks of the Collector of the district making a certificate in these cases, yet we find that wherever reference is made to this section in the subsequent sections of the Act, it is always spoken of as a certificate made simply by 'a Collector.' For instance, in section 10, it says 'when a certificate has been filed in the office of a Collector under the provisions of sections 5, 7 or 9, such Collector shall issue to the judgment-debtor a copy of such certificate, &c.' Here then we have certificates under sections 5, 7 and 9 all treated together as made by a Collector, and no distinction whatever is made between certificates under section 5 and section 7.

"In section 5 relating to certain debts in respect of arrears of land revenue, &c., it says: 'The Collector may make under his hand a certificate of the amount of arrears so remaining unpaid, &c.' Now it has always been supposed that the land revenue is specially under the cognizance of the Collector of the district, and when the Act thus empowers simply 'the Collector' to make certificates in respect of that form of demand of which the Collector of the district has special cognizance, how can it be said that it requires a more responsible officer to make certificates for such petty demands as are dealt with in section 7? We should expect, if any distinction was intended, that certificates under section 5 should be reserved for 'the Collector of the district,' and those under section 7 should be open to any officer authorized by the Government so to act. But, furthermore, a certificate under section 5 has a particular stringency which is not given to a certificate under section 7. As this Act was originally drafted and introduced, a certificate under section 5 was called a certificate 'absolute,' and no suit in the Civil Court was allowed to call into question its validity. A certificate under section 7 was called a certificate 'conditional,' and could be questioned in a Civil Court. Those terms were subsequently abandoned when the Act passed through the Council, but still there remains (vide section 6) a peculiar stringency attaching to the certificate under section 5, for no question as to its validity is permitted in the Civil Court until after the amount has been paid. No such condition is imposed as to a certificate under section 7.

"If, then, the more stringent and coercive certificate of section 5 may be made by any one falling under the definition of Collector, how can it be supposed that the less stringent certificate of section 7 requires the signature of the district officer himself. The subject-matter of these sections affords no countenance to such a distinction, and the words 'of the district' after Collector in section 7 are clearly due to careless transcription from the Act of 1868.

"Further, when I look through the proceedings which took place on the passing of the Act of 1880 through this Council, I find nothing whatever to show that it was in the mind of any one to make any distinction between the certificate under the one section or the other so far as regards the officer by whom they were to be recorded.

"A minute verbal criticism which isolates a phrase and analyses its words independently of the subject-matter of which the text treats will enable a man to force any meaning he pleases on language, and there is an ostentation of extreme deference to the letter which most effectually destroys the spirit. It has been a not unusual practice for Judges, both here and in England, to carp and gird at the Legislature, and to pretend defective drafting as a cover for mere wilfulness. But such judicial pecking and snapping the Legislature treats with the most perfect indifference and stolidly pursues its way. One is forcibly reminded of the Yorkshireman who, when pommelled by his wife, sat smiling blandly. One of the most remarkable features I have observed in this microscopic criticism to which Acts are subjected is that never by any chance is it employed in furtherance of the object of the Act, or to check the mischief against which the Act is levelled. A genuine emanation from der Geist der stets verneint, whenever it comes in, it comes to restrict the operation, to paralyse the activity of the law. It is a sort of legal bacillus as destructive to an Act as Dr. Koch's tubercle bacillus to the human lungs. We know from ancient times that the exaggerated scrupulosity which pays tithe of mint and anise and cummin is quite compatible with neglect of the weightier matters of the law-judgment; and those who strain at gnats are the same who swallow camels. In my thirty years' Bengal experience, I have seen much straining at gnats, and I have seen many camels swallowed. It is not six months ago the hon'ble member, the Advocate-General, assisted at the swallowing of a very big camel. I do not mean that he was aiding and abetting the performance; quite the contrary. With what astonishment all Calcutta then heard that a man who confessed to stealing twelve lakhs from a bank had committed no offence. The exigency of the law was assigned as the ground for this curious result, but, Sir, I dare to say that result had as little foundation in law as in common sense. If the law be defective, how comes it that no steps have yet been taken to mend it? Perhaps, it is not the law but some administrators of the law that needs mending?"

The Hon'ble Dr. Rash Behari Ghose said:—"I agree with the hon'ble member in charge of the Bill that section 7 of the Public Demands Recovery Act, 1880, should be amended by the omission of the words 'of the district', not because I think that the judgment of the High Court is wrong, but because a study of the Act has led me to the conclusion that the words 'of the district' were allowed to remain in the section owing to mere inadvertence. I thought, when the Bill was introduced last week by the hon'ble member opposite, that he was going to bless the High Court for pointing out what was an obvious slip of the draftsman. And I confess I was not quite prepared for the surprise which the hon'ble member had in store for us. Whether it is seemly that the judgment of the highest court in the land—that the judgment of the Chief Justice of Bengal—should be criticized in the way in which it has been criticized, I will leave it to the hon'ble member himself to say in his cooler moments.

"The hon'ble member, whose observations are always seasoned with salt, which, if not exactly attic, is certainly racy of the soil, has thought fit to find fault with the judgment of the High Court because the Judges did not do what Judges in former times were very much censured for doing, that is, to take upon themselves the province of the Legislature. Now it is a well known maxim, familiar to every lawyer, that the duty of a Judge is to expound the law, and not to make law. That may be a very narrow view according to the learned member opposite to take of the duty of a Judge, but it is now the accepted theory, and it will be a pure waste of time to discuss the question, whether or not Judges should go further and interpret, according to what used to be called in former times, the spirit of the law. All the latest decisions in England, as well as here, show that the safest course for a Judge is to adhere strictly to the words of the Statute, and if, owing to the incompetency of the draftsman or of somebody else, the Legislature has not been able to express its intention, the Judges cannot supply that deficiency and expound the law according to what the Legislature intended to express by the particular enactment. The question is not what the Legislature intended, but what it has said. I know that nobody is infallible, neither Judges nor even Legal Remembrancers. I venture to think, however, notwithstanding the criticism of the learned member in charge of the Bill, that the judgment of the High Court is, if I may say so without impropriety, perfectly correct. Most of the arguments founded upon the language employed in different sections of the Act lead not to the conclusion that the learned Judges of the High Court were wrong in putting the construction they did on the Act, but that a mistake had been made by somebody, a mistake which we are now about to rectify.

"There is only one other observation which I wish to make, and that is this—It seems to me that the attitude of the hon'ble member in charge of the Bill is somewhat inconsistent. He is going to amend the Act Why? Because the Act requires amendment. The Bill is not in the nature of a declaratory Bill. Such instances have, by no means, been of uncommon occurrence in England as well as here, in which the Legislature have said that it never was their intention that an Act should receive a particular construction, but they meant that it should have another construction. The Bill before the Council is not a declaratory Bill. It is an amending Bill; and that being so, I should have thought that when we are going to amend the Act we cannot very well say that the Act was not ill-drawn; that there was no flaw in it, and that if there has been an error anywhere it was committed by the Judges who were called upon to construe it. I repeat what I said at the outset that although I agree with the hon'ble member in thinking that the Act ought to be amended, I agree with him in nothing else."

The Hon'ble Mr. Nolan said:—"The legal argument with which we have been favoured by the hon'ble member in charge of the Bill might, perhaps, have come from him more appropriately in his position in another capacity than that of a member of this Council. He, after due consultation with others, as Legal Remembrancer advised Revenue Officers that a Collector, as defined in the Act, can make certificates under section 7, and on this the Collectors made such certificates. The High Court has now, as we are all aware, come to a different conclusion, and the hon'ble member naturally wishes to defend his own opinion as to the interpretation of the Act—an opinion upon which so much action has been taken throughout Bengal. But Government is in no way concerned with this dispute as to the correct interpretation of the Act. I, for my part, looked into the matter as far as I could, and I can only say that the High Court's decision seems to me to be perfectly reasonable and sound. It seems to me that there is a distinction between certificates under section 5, which relate to debts more easily ascertained, and those made under section 7 of the Act; and that the Legislature really intended in 1880 to require the signature of the Collector of the district to the latter. But this is really immaterial. It is quite sufficient for us to know that it will be greatly to the public convenience that the change now proposed should be made.

"In regard to the certificates now outstanding, which are invalid under the recent decision of the High Court, they amount to some 73,000, and many persons would be put to unnecessary trouble if proceedings had to be recommenced in each case. And as to future operations, as was explained by the hon'ble member in introducing the Bill, it is impolitic to put a superior officer to do work which can very well be done by the responsible and highly educated gentlemen who fill the position of Collectors under the Act. These are the reasons—reasons of public convenience—on which I, for my part, give my vote in support of the Bill."

The Hon'ble the President said:—"I do not think I should have exceeded my duty or the powers conferred upon me as President if I had asked the hon'ble member who spoke last but one to abstain from following the line of discussion he took up, and to confine himself strictly to the business before the Council. I refrained from doing so partly because I think it very undesirable to exercise presidential functions with any severity or unnecessary stringency, and also because the hon'ble member was so far within his right that the hon'ble member who opened the discussion had not been checked in the use of language which he thought required some words of rebutment. But I venture to express the hope that what has happened on this occasion may not be taken as a precedent. I would submit that we are assembled here with the object of carrying through important, but somewhat formal, public business, and that it is desirable for us, so far as it is possible, to confine ourselves to that business and to trouble or to please our colleagues and the public as little as possible with the expression of our opinions on matters outside of that business. If I were to give my own opinion at all on the subject which has provoked this discussion, it would be the same as that of the hon'ble member who spoke last as to the construction of the Act by the High Court, namely, that they had no option but to say that the Collector of the district means the Collector of the district. Having said so much, there is no option for us but to strike out the words 'of the district', and there the matter ends. But even if I had thought otherwise, I do not think I should have taken this opportunity or any opportunity of attacking the High Court, or for using language which is privileged language here and which could not be answered by the persons concerned. It is not our business and cannot be our pleasure to criticise the judgments of high public officers who are in no way subordinate to us, and over whom we can exercise no control whatever. I have ventured to say these words in the hope that they may be taken as an indication of my wish in the future that we should not enter into excursive discussions of this kind, but confine ourselves more closely to the business in hand."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble Mr. Allen also moved that the Bill be passed.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Council adjourned sine die.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT ON THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE OPIUM DEPARTMENT FOR THE YEAR 1889-90.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT—MIS. REVENUE—No. 1870.

Calcutta, the 23rd March 1891.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

Report on the Administration of the Opium Department for the year 1889-90.

IN the Resolution on the Opium Administration Report for the year 1888-89, it was stated that, in order to render the review complete, it remained only to add an account of the Board's own action during the year in the direction of inspection or control, and of the facts especially within their knowledge, such as the results of sales and the condition of stocks. The present report has accordingly included these two subjects, and it is observed with satisfaction that the Board's supervision was supplemented by a very useful tour through both Agencies by the Member in charge, Sir H. L. Harrison, during the course of which enquiries were made resulting eventually in definite orders from Government confirming the procedure already experimentally in force in dealing with cultivators in Behar found in possession of contraband opium, and raising the consistence of Benares opium from 70° to 71°. The opportunity was also taken to discuss fully with the Agents and such Sub-Deputy Agents as Sir H. L. Harrison was enabled to meet the introduction of a uniform manual and form of accounts for both Agencies. This latter question has been found to present considerable difficulties, and is still under the consideration of the Board, who hope, however, to put their views before Government in a short time.

2. The portion of the report which deals with the results of sales and the condition of stocks is rendered particularly interesting by the reduction of the money results of each monthly sale to a sterling standard at the rate of exchange current at the time at which each sale took place, the object being to arrive at the true value of the sale proceeds to the Indian Government in paying the gold debt of India to England. Viewed in the light of this sterling test, there is certainly much uniformity between the two years 1888-89 and 1889-90, both as regards the average proceeds per chest and also the fluctuations in selling price at different times of the year; but the Lieutenant-Governor is by no means sure that this correspondence is not accidental, or that the Board are correct in concluding that "the European gold standard unmistakeably regulates the market." It would be necessary to examine the figures of more than two years before such a conclusion could be held to be clearly established.

3. The Lieutenant-Governor regrets that the Board have not as yet been able to give effect to the orders of the Government of India that the expenditure of the season should be reviewed according to statements verified by the Accountant-General; and he desires that early steps may be taken to complete the arrangements by which the Accountant-General will be enabled to verify the statements before the issue of the Annual Report. The figures given have been furnished by the Agents, and are, perhaps, as the Board observe, substantially correct, though not yet audited by the Accounts Department. They show an increase in expenditure as against the previous year of Rs. 56,32,968-15-6, viz., from Rs. 1,37,75,778-5-11 to Rs. 1,94,08,747-5-5, due to the larger outturn which amounted to 44,760 chests of provision opium against 38,305 in the preceding year.

4. The season of 1888-89 is described by the Board as having been poor in Behar and nearly up to the ordinary standard in Benares, the average produce per bigah in the two Agencies being 4 seers 3½ chittacks and 5 seers 10¼ chittacks respectively. Unseasonable weather in Behar diminished the outturn, unusual dryness of the atmosphere raised the consistence of the opium, and the indents for abkari opium were exceptionally large. The result was that instead of an expected outturn of about 50,000 chests, only 44,760 chests of provision opium calculated at 70° consistence were produced, and the reserve on the 31st December 1891 will fall to 18,770 chests.

5. The Board exemplify by a review of the past three seasons the difficulties of controlling and regulating the sowings so as to maintain uniformity in the reserve kept The Board's view is that, there being three factors in the production and storage of opium which are under the control of Government, the area cultivated, the number of chests sold, and the number of chests in reserve, if the two latter are absolutely constant, and the first alone varies, the want of certainty on this head is a great discouragement to agriculturists, and is unfavourable to the successful cultivation of the plant. There is much truth in this, and it has been found practically impossible to keep the reserve at a fixed figure, while the number of chests sold, though it has since 1887 been 57,000 annually, is in fact fixed from year to year with reference to all known circumstances. The Board state that the measures taken to reduce cultivation in 1888-89 were the more regrettable, because it appeared a few months later that the caprice of the season would have done all that was requisite without any large reduction of area, which caused distress and uncertainty among the cultivators. An increase of cultivation was therefore considered necessary in the following year, 1889-90. The Benares Agent accordingly arranged, in spite of the late hour at which he received his orders, and of the disheartened condition of the cultivators after the preceding season, to increase his area of cultivation by about 20 per cent. The Behar Agent was requested to arrange for a manufacture of 28,000 chests, but considered that his previous year's area of cultivation would suffice for this amount. As a matter of fact, he was not able to settle for even the same area as in the preceding year, and the crop turning out a poor one, his manufacture was only 17,610 chests instead of 28,000. The Benares manufacture also fell short of the 30,000 chests for which Mr. Rivett-Carnac had been asked to provide by 2,850 chests, with the result already noticed of a large reduction in the Reserve.

6. The policy of the Board in accepting only what is described as the normal expansion of the settlements for the year 1890-91, rather than attempting to effect an increase by putting pressure on the cultivators through their headmen, is approved. Since the receipt of their report, it has been ascertained from the Board that the outturn of the season 1890-91 is now estimated at 49,904 maunds, representing 27,348 chests at 75° in Behar, and 54,189 maunds, representing 31,369 chests at 71° in Benares. This would give a total of 58,717 chests for the two Agencies, and would to some slight extent tend to restore the reserve to its normal amount But the latest accounts are that the crop now on the ground has in both Agencies been considerably damaged by hailstorms, so that the actual outturn may be expected to fall short of the later estimates by a large number of chests. It will be for the Board to make proposals in connection with the settlements of 1891-92 to admit of the increase of the reserve to its proper figure. Government is awaiting a further report from the Board, after the results of the season of 1890-91 become known, on the question of replacing Behar by Benares opium in the market. The increase during the later sales of the price of Behar as compared with Benares opium, and the fall during 1890 in the number of chests sold at Penang, Singapore, and Saigong, the chief consumers of the Benares drug, suggest at present that no diminution in the supply of Behar opium would be advisable.

7. The question of the storing of the opium in unpacked cakes at the factories rather than in the Board's godowns was fully entered into in the year 1888; and in view of the marked advantage in weight possessed by the opium kept at the factory unpacked until within a comparatively short time of its being required for the market, it was decided that the practice of so storing opium should be extended as far as practicable. In their present report the Board allude to this policy, but do not say how far it has been found possible to give effect to it. This point may with advantage be noticed in the report for the ensuing year.

8. Irrigation is reported to have shown fair progress in Tirhut and Hajipur, but the prejudice against it in Motihari and Bettiah has not been so successfully combated. These two Sub-Agencies remain, as before, the only part in which the percentage of opium land irrigated is under 50.

9. The Behar Agent's report shows an increase of over 75 per cent. as against the previous year in the fines levied for abnormal presence of pasewah in the opium delivered, and a decrease of considerably over 100 per cent. in the quantity of pasewah delivered by the cultivators. In the absence of any explanation, the Lieutenant-Governor agrees with the Board in considering that these figures probably indicate a want of care on the part of the cultivators in separating the pasewah from the opium.

10. The balance outstanding at the end of the season was Rs. 2,366-13-6 as against Rs. 27,435-8-3 at the close of the previous season. The large balances in the preceding year were due to the badness of the season both as regarded opium and food-crops, and it is satisfactory to find that those balances have been successfully cleared off, especially in the case of the Monghyr Agency, concerning which a special report was called for in the resolution on the report of last year. On the 31st March 1890 the balance outstanding in Monghyr had been reduced from Rs. 21,288 to Rs. 5,264. Of the balances now reported, the greater part is attributed to the assamiwar system of settlement introduced into the Benares Agency, by which every individual failure to work off an advance within the year appears as balance. Such amounts are, it is stated, recovered without difficulty at the time of the fresh settlements. In connexion with the Benares assamiwar system it is noticed that the practice lately introduced into Behar of giving a separate license to, and taking a separate receipt from, each cultivator has worked with satisfaction both to the officers of the department and to the cultivators.

11. The number of convictions for breaches of the opium laws shows a considerable falling off, and the percentage of convictions has also decreased in the North-Western Provinces from 88·74 to 84·67. The decrease in the number of prosecutions is said to be due to the severity with which offenders are now treated by the Magistrates. In other respects the criminal statistics of the department are only distinguished by several important cases of smuggling from Nepaul, and an opinion is again expressed that these cases indicate an organization for introducing illicit opium into the Native States of the Punjab. The Lieutenant-Governor will be glad to learn the result of the Benares Agent's further enquiries into the matter.

12. The Lieutenant-Governor desires to express his thanks to the Board and the Agents for their excellent management of the department during the year, and observes with especial satisfaction the high testimony borne to the administrative capacity of Mr. Rivett-Carnac, C.I.E. The good services rendered by Drs. Owen and Weir at the two factories, and by Messrs. Tytler and Gregory, Sub-Deputy Agents, are also noticed with pleasure.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

CALCUTTA, the 24th March 1891.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING SATURDAY, THE 21st OF MARCH 1891.

THE meteorological conditions in Bengal for the greater part of the previous week, and particularly at its close, had been disturbed, and rather numerous local storms had occurred. On the 15th pressure was rising moderately to rapidly in the centre and east of the province, while it was falling slowly at the western stations, and particularly at the stations at the foot of the hills. Compared with the normal, there was on this day a distinct defect in Orissa and along the foot of the hills, but elsewhere pressure was in excess. Winds were generally also westerly and south-westerly except in Orissa, where a north-easterly current was reported. Disturbed conditions still therefore continued in Orissa, and a few local storms were again reported, particularly in the Pooree district. On the 16th the changes of pressure were remarkably small, and the pressure distribution remained unchanged, though winds were decidedly more irregular than they had been; and again on this day a few rain showers were reported from Orissa. On the 17th the changes of pressure were again very small except in the extreme north of the province, where a moderate rise had taken place. Winds also generally became more regular in direction and varied between west and south-west except in the extreme east of the province, where they were north-easterly. The general conditions on this day were rather more normal and settled than they had been, and very few local storms occurred On the 18th conditions began to revert to their former disturbed state, pressure rose by amounts varying from two to seven-hundredths of an inch, the rise being largest in the north of the province, and pressure became from a twentieth to a tenth of an inch in excess of the normal. Winds became very irregular in direction, and at neighbouring stations in some cases winds were blowing from opposite quarters; so that again conditions were a little disturbed and a few local storms occurred, the rainfall from which was reported on Thursday. On the 19th a very rapid fall of pressure had set in, varying from about a twentieth of an inch at the southern stations to considerably more than a tenth in North Bengal and North Behar, and pressure became almost normal. Winds became rather more strongly westerly than they were, so that local storms on this day almost ceased, and little or no rain was reported on the 20th. The fall of pressure continued on the 20th, and it generally amounted to from three to five-hundredths of an inch, and pressure became below the normal by about this amount. South-westerly and southerly winds of considerable strength then set in over the province, blowing apparently towards a decided low-pressure area which must have existed in the hills, and these winds brought up much moisture to the province. By the morning of the 21st this south-westerly current had been driven back to a great extent, and northerly winds had set in at some of the stations in the centre of the province, easterly winds were blowing at the eastern stations, and north-easterly winds in Orissa and the south of Chutia Nagpur. It was therefore evident that the atmosphere was in a very disturbed condition at this period, and that great interaction was taking place between two more or less opposing wind systems, and a gale of wind was reported from Darjeeling, showing the great disturbance which was occurring in the upper strata of the atmosphere. The pressure changes on this day were also irregular, and while the barometer was rising in the centre and east of the province, it was falling at the western stations. At the close of the week, therefore, conditions were far more disturbed than they had been in the earlier part, and on the morning of the 21st rain, which had usually accompanied local thunderstorms, had occurred at most of the stations in South-West Bengal and Chutia Nagpur and at a few in Orissa and East Bengal.

Pressure.—The variations of pressure from day to day during the week have already been recorded, and it will be seen that they have been rather large. The mean pressure, however, has generally been only slightly in excess of the normal, the excess usually equalling one or two-hundredths of an inch Temperature.—The mean temperature of the province was at the close of the previous week and the commencement of the present week from about 5° to 10° below the normal. On the 15th the changes of temperature were rather variable, but from the 16th to the 20th there was a steady rise, the daily increase usually equalling from 1° to 3° or 4°. On the 21st the changes were variable, and temperature was rising at the northern and falling at the southern stations. There has therefore been a decidedly rapid general increase of temperature during the week, but as at this time of the year a rapid rise of temperature is the normal condition, the increase during the week has still left temperature lower than the normal for the period, and though at the close of the week temperature was generally only 2° or 3° below the normal, yet for the whole week the mean temperature of the province has been about 4° below the normal.

The main variations of temperature from the normal during the week have been in the day or maximum temperatures, where temperatures have averaged about 5° to 8° below the normal, while the night temperatures have only been 1° to 3° below the normal. This is shewn clearly in the following table, where the average maximum, minimum, and mean temperatures at nine typical stations in different districts of the province are compared with the normal values for the same periods:—

Rainfall—Has been heaviest in Orissa, which has received an average fall of 0·75 inch, or about three times the normal fall. South-West Bengal has received about a fifth of an inch, or nearly the normal amount. Chutia Nagpur and East Bengal have averaged a little more than a tenth of an inch, but while the fall in Chutia Nagpur has been in excess of the normal, in East Bengal it has been about a-third of the usual fall. In Behar and North Bengal rainfall has been almost entirely absent.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed, open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

♁, dew ; o, overcast.

MEMORANDUM.

Weekly statistics of births and deaths in twenty-seven of the principal towns of Bengal for the week ending with Saturday, the 7th March 1891

Births.

The total births registered during the week ending with Saturday, the 7th March 1891, in twenty-seven principal towns of Bengal, amounted to 588, and correspond to an annual rate of 28·5 per 1,000 of the aggregate population of those towns, which is 1,072,359. This rate is 8·7 higher than the average rate of the corresponding week of the past five years, and is also higher than the rate of the corresponding week of any of the past five years with which comparison is instituted, vide the figures below :—

INCREASES.

	Tons.
Coal	2,915
For railway and flotilla consumption.
Railway plant &c....	2,065
For repairs and renewals.

DECREASES.

Unscrewed jute	12,261
The falling off in despatches of unscrewed jute has been general, all the principal stations showing decreases owing to the dullness of the market.
Salt	1,833
The decrease in this traffic is due to the falling off in the despatches from C. P. I. Railway and Chitpore, probably arising through there being a small demand up-country.
Oilseeds	1,064
Due to the dullness of the market and in some degree to small production.

General remarks on the fluctuation of principal staples carried over the East Indian Railway during the four weeks ended 21st February 1891.

INCREASES.

Piece-goods (European).—The improvement was almost entirely in despatches from Howrah to stations in Lower Bengal; to the Dinapore district, and to Cawnpore and Delhi, and was due to demands in connection with the important mélas (Ardhodya Jogs, &c.) occurring during the early part of the period under review.

Wheat.—The increase in earnings attended with a slight decrease in the weight carried, was due to long distance despatches from stations in the Tundla district, and from the North-Western Railway viâ Ghaziabad, to Howrah, for export.

Grain and Pulses.—The increase under this head was chiefly in cellai and kurti from stations in the Sahebgunge district to Burdwan and Raneegunge; also in short lead cross traffic from the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway viâ Delhi to stations on the North-Western and the Oudh and Rohilkhand Railways, and in despatches of khessaree, moosoor, and kurti from the Dinapore district, to stations on the Bengal and North-Western Railway.

Rice (husked and unhusked).—The large increase was chiefly in despatches from stations between Boinchee and Raneegunge, to Howrah, for export to coast ports and to the West Indies and Burmah; also in despatches from the "R" and "B" districts to stations up-country and to the Bengal and North-Western Railway.

Other rain and spring crops.—Due to considerable imports at stations in the Tundla district from the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway, and also from the same supplying stations to Meerut and stations on the Oudh and Rohilkhand Railway.

Hides and skins.—Chiefly in despatches from Digha Ghât and Cawnpore to Howrah for export to Europe.

Lac.—This is a continuation of the increase recorded in the previous reports, and was chiefly in despatches from the Asansol-Gaikara section of the Bengal-Nagpur Railway.

Oils.—Chiefly in despatches of kerosine oil from Hadge-Bridge to Sahebgunge, Patna, Cawnpore, Agra, and to stations on the Bengal and North-Western, Oudh and Rohilkhand, and North-Western Railways.

Ghee.—The increase was chiefly in despatches from Cawnpore and stations above to Howrah, where the demand for local consumption is good.

Seeds.—The improvement was chiefly in linseed from certain stations on the Dinapore district, and from almost all the seed-despatching stations in the Allahabad district to Howrah, for export to Europe.

Sugar (refined and unrefined).—There was an increase in the despatches of jaggree and molasses from Abraura Road, Allahabad, and Allahabad Fort, and from the Oudh and Rohilkhand Railway viâ Cawnpore, to stations on the Jubbulpore line and on the Great Indian Peninsula Railway viâ Jubbulpore. Increased despatches were also made from Delhi-Shahdara, locally, and to stations on the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway viâ Delhi.

DECREASES.

Coal.—There was a falling off in the upward despatches and an increase in the downward traffic, the former due to smaller takings by all the foreign Railways, and the latter to continued demand for export to coast ports.

Cotton.—As in previous months, the falling off was chiefly in despatches from Cawnpore and stations above to Howrah and Bombay, owing to limited demand from continental ports.

Minerals other than Coal and Coke.—Chiefly owing to lime sent from Raneegunge last year for the Kidderpore Docks.

Iron.—Large despatches of iron pipes and machinery were made last year from Howrah to Allahabad and Agra for the water-works at those places.

Opium.—The despatches were earlier this year than last.

Railway material, foreign.—The falling off was in despatches of permanent-way materials last year from Howrah to Dumooda, Umaria, and Delhi, for the Bengal-Nagpur and the Delhi-Umballa-Kalka Railways.

Salt.—The falling off was both in despatches of imported salt from Howrah and in receipts of the country salt viâ Agra and Hathras at stations on the "C" and "D" districts.

Saltpetre.—Due to a limited demand for export.

Spices.—Chiefly in chillies from Mokameh Ghât to Raneegunge, Burdwan, and Howrah, owing to less production this year.

Stone.—Chiefly in stone ballast from Pakur to Calcutta and owing to despatches of stone from Mirzapur last year.

Tobacco.—This is a continuation of the falling off reported in previous months.

Bones.—Chiefly from Allahabad, Agra, and Aligarh to Bally and Cawnpore.
